3 POWER NEGOTIATIONS ARE FORESHADOWED

PREMIER CONFERS SEPARATELY WITH JAPAN AND U. S.

KING GEORGE MAY TAKE ACTIVE PART IN THE CONFERENCE

THREE-POWER ACCORD MAY BE SOUGHT IF FIVE-POWER PARLEY FAILS

By HENRY T. RUSSELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, March 21. — The British spokesman announced today the British approved the recent tentative understanding between the United States and Japanese naval delegations on relative strength of their navies.

The understanding, however, has not yet met with approval in Tokio, where dissatisfaction has been expressed with the heavy cruiser strength allotted to the Japanese navy as opposed to the American.

The French minister of Marine, Jacques-Louis Dumesnil, and the minister of colonies, Francois Peitri, visited the Italian foreign minister, Dino Grandi, this afternoon, and then announced they would leave for Paris tonight. Their departure amounts to temporary withdrawal of the French delegation from the conference.

Their departure leaves only Ambassador Aimi-Joseph De Fleuria to maintain contacts for the French.

Semi-official French sources admitted that, as far as France is concerned, the conference has reached an impasse for which they hold Italy responsible.

London, March 21.—An important discussion of the naval conference situation was held today by Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald with the chief delegates of the United States and Japan.

MacDonald was received by King George at Buckingham Palace immediately after the discussions at No. 10 Downing Street, where the premier had received the American and Japanese delegates separately.

Some quarters believed the developments foreshadowed important three-power negotiations. If such is the case, it would be the first time King George has taken an active part in the conference except for presiding at the formal poening—when he called on the world for peace and disarmament—and later when he received the conference delegates formally.

The discussions, viewed in the light of many reports that a three-power accord would be sought if the five-power conference fails, were emphasized by revelation of futile last minute efforts to induce Italy and France to compromise.

Briand's decision to leave London yesterday at a moment when the conference was in serious deadlock, came after a previously undisclosed visit to a high British official. The British official was understood to have submitted to the French foreign minister suggestions for altering the French tonnage figures and thus opening the way for reconciliation of the French and Italian views.

Briand was said to have listened to the suggestions without comment. Then he rose suddenly and remarked: "I am going."

Meanwhile, the headquarters of the American delegation was the scene of much excited speculation about when the conference would end. Most conversation centered on the possibility that the delegations would depart about April 14. Typewriters and equipment are being checked and officials have asked stenographers how much time they desire on the continent.

Paris, March 21.—Premier Andre Tardieu said today he would return to the London naval conference when it takes a more definite turn. He made the statement after conferring with Foreign Minister Briand.

EASTER BUNNY IS OUT OF LUCK IN REALISTIC RUSSIA

Moscow, March 21.—(U.P.)—Even the Easter bunny is out of luck this year in realistic Soviet Russia.

The Moscow shops won't sell coloring for Easter eggs, it was announced today, and little boys and girls, no longer believing in Santa Claus, will have to hear there isn't even a bunny really who hops about laying those bright-hued eggs yearly.

Orthodox Easter and Jewish Passover accessories also were banned by the regional association of co-operative stores, government owned, in an announcement today. The prohibition order includes "koolitch" and "paska," special sorts of Easter cakes, as well as sacramental wines.

MILITANT STAND TAKEN AGAINST WORLD COURT

RUTH ANNA McCORMICK MAKES ISSUE OF IT IN HER CAMPAIGN

GIVES RADIO TALK WHILE CAMPAIGNING FOR THE UNITED STATES SENATE

Chicago, March 21. — (U.P.) — Ruth Hanna McCormick's militant stand against the world court was dinner table talk in the midwest today after she had swung into the crowded final phase of her campaign for the United States senate with a radio address here last night.

A veteran campaigner in her own right, the gentlewoman farmer, newspaper owner and congresswoman watched the campaign tactics of her famous father, the late Mark Hanna, when she addressed two other Chicago audiences within three hours after her radio appearance under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. McCormick reiterated the tenor of speeches she made in scores of towns and cities throughout Illinois in recent weeks. She harked back to Washington's warnings against "entangling alliances" and branded the world court a "back door to the League of Nations."

She spoke earnestly and simply, this aspirant to be the first woman ever elected to the United States senate. Dressed in a brown frock of almost staid simplicity, she went from meeting to meeting in her automobile, appearing at a banquet of Polish citizens and a meeting of north side residents in the Nicholas Senn high school after her talk to a national radio audience was completed.

Rockford, Ill., March 21.—The home town of Ruth Hanna McCormick had heard both sides of the world court senatorial campaign controversy today, with United States Senator Chas. S. Deneen's ringing call for adherence to the world court uttered last night in his drive for the republican nomination.

Senator Deneen's thesis was that the world court is not a part of the League of Nations but a separate and useful body which this country should utilize for its own protection.

"The League of Nations is a distinctly European institution and we have troubles enough at home to look after without becoming entangled in such foreign alliances," he said. "But I do believe in preparation for self defense. I believe in adequate preparation on land, on sea, in the air and in the economic structure of the country.

"However, I believe there is another way to defend ourselves—by entering a pact with other nations of the world so disputes can be settled peaceably. That pact is provided for admirably by the world court."

Washington, March 21.—By a margin of a single vote the senate today refused to accept the final compromise to place a duty of 40 cents a barrel on oil and 20 per cent on gasoline.

GERMANY HAS AN EXTENSIVE FARM RELIEF PROGRAM

Berlin, March 21.—(U.P.)—A farm relief program calling for the expenditure of about $100,000,000 on measures calculated to aid the agricultural districts of Germany has been adopted by the cabinet, it was announced today.

The plan also forsees granting cheap credits to farmers. Many schools, workers' clubs and children's homes are to be built.

Northerns to Take No Action on Merger Plan of I. C. C. Until Stockholders Decide

JOINT DEPOSIT COMMITTEE OF ROADS HAS VIRTUALLY UNLIMITED AUTHORITY

MEMBERSHIP INCLUDES J. P. MORGAN, ARTHUR CURTISS JAMES, LOUIS W. HILL

St. Paul, March 21.—(U.P.)—Authoritative reports today said the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads will take no action on the consolidation proposal of the interstate commerce commission until the plan is re-submitted to the stockholders.

It was reported in St. Paul railroad circles that the Northerns' joint deposit committee will take no official action on any merger other than the original unification plan.

The deposit committee has virtually unlimited authority in deciding the merger because its members control most of the outstanding stock in the two railroads. Membership of the committee includes J. P. Morgan, Arthur Curtiss James and Louis W. Hill.

It was indicated the only merger proposal to which the committee would consent without consulting the stockholders is the original plan to merge the Northerns with the Burlington included. The interstate commerce commission plan provides for exclusion of the Burlington.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, and other officials of the lines, would not comment on the shareholders' vote report. They indicated, however, that exclusion of the Burlington from the merger is the only feature of the interstate commerce plan to which they object.

Budd pointed out that the Northerns use the Burlington tracks between Chicago and St. Paul and would be left without an outlet on that division if the Burlington were excluded from the merger.

The convict and his companion, Lee Hudgens, shot their way to liberty as guards were changing shifts.

B. F. Baltzer, a guard, is not expected to live. H. M. Richardson, another guard, is less seriously injured.

COUNTRY SCHOOL IS RAZED BY FIRE, THREE LOSE LIVES

SCHOOL AT TYRON, OKLAHOMA, LEFT SMOLDERING MASS IN HALF HOUR FIRE

FLAMES BOLT FROM THE STORE INTO WHICH KEROSENE HAD BEEN POURED

Tyron, Okla., March 21. — (U.P.) — Eighty students of Pleasant Valley school, a single story frame building which was swept by fire, today awaited word from the parents of three of their classmates lost in the flames, regarding funeral services which they plan to attend en masse.

The fire swept the little school house late yesterday, leaving it a smoldering mass thirty minutes after flames bolted from the stove into which kerosene had been poured.

The kerosene was poured into the stove by Freddy Eaton, 8, who did it to replenish the fire. He thought the hot coals had been removed. The explosion covered him with flames and spread over the circle of students seated in a big circle about the stove.

Terror stricken, the children bolted for the two exits before the instructors, Mrs. Reese Carpenter and Miss Dinita Smith could stop them. A jam was created at both doors, the screaming children fighting one another in an attempt to get out of the burning room. A few dashed to the windows, throwing them open and attempting to dive through them. The open windows and doors created a draft which caused flames to lick across the ceiling of the rooms and added to the excitement. The teachers restored order and helped the children out.

Eaton, too badly burned and injured, was unable to get out of the building. Two others who died with him were Granville Murray, 6, and Lawanda Doddrill, 7.

GOVERNOR HARTLEY SENDS GREETING TO GOV. CHRISTIANSON

St. Paul, Minn., March 21.—(U.P.) — What the Carolina governors said to each other doesn't go, Governor Theodore Christianson said today when he received a carrier pigeon greeting from Governor Roland H. Hartley of Washington.

The message read: "As governor of the state of Washington, I extend to you and your people and the Zonta Club of Minnesota the greetings of the Zonta Club of Washington."

It was dispatched during the Pacific coast Zonta Clubs' spring convention, carried from Olympia to Tacoma by carrier pigeon and the remainder of the distance by regular mail.

WEATHER MAN GETS SIGNALS CROSSED TODAY

INSTEAD OF SPRINGLIKE WEATHER COUNTRY IS TREATED TO MID-WINTER DAYS

SPRING MAKES HER DEBUT AT 3:30 A. M., MANY NOT REALIZING IT

Washinigton, March 21.—(U.P.)—The weather man got his signals crossed today and instead of springlike weather the country generally was treated to a mid-winter day.

Few realized that spring made her 1930 debut today, but she did—at 3:30 A. M. Even the weather man was unaware of it. Told that this was the first day of spring, he replied in a bored air:

"Oh, yeah? Well, she'll get a reception like the first day of winter." A survey of the country indicated he was right.

A cold wave held the west and the northwest in its grasp. From 26 below in Manitoba, Canada, the thermometer rose only slightly through Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota, Minnesota, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Ohio. At Chicago it registered about 20 degrees above, but was due to drop more tonight.

Only in the south, where resort circulars claim everlasting sunshine, was the new season ushered in in the proper manner. The western cold wave failed to penetrate the south, usual March 21 temperatures prevailing throughout the south.

St. Paul, March 21.—As spring officially arrived in the northern half of the world, residents of the northwest today could choose between the calendar, the weather man or the actual cold facts.

The calendar said it was March 21, the first day of spring, the facts were that temperatures ranged down to two below zero, with chill winds. The weather man said it will be warmer tomorrow.

Duluth reported the lowest temperature in Minnesota—two below zero. Moorhead shivered in zero weather and other sections of the state reported cold north winds and temperatures not much above the zero mark.

The official prediction for Minnesota promised "fair and warmer."

INVITE BYRD TO VISIT HAWAII

Honolulu, T. H., March 21.—(U.P.)—An invitation to Rear Admiral Richard Byrd to visit the Hawaiian Islands enroute to New York from Australia was contained in a cable sent from here today by Governor Laurence Judd and the territorial Chamber of Commerce.

Byrd, homeward bound from new triumphs in aviation, exploration and scientific discoveries at the South Pole had announced intention of going direct to New York by way of the Panama Canal. A visit here would be several hundred miles off this course and, if decided upon, might mean the addition of one or two Pacific coast ports to his intinerary.

LOW PRICE OF FLOUR REDUCES PRICE OF BREAD IN LONDON

London, March 21. — (U.P.) — The low price of flour has resulted in a reduction in the price of bread here by a half a penny to eight pence (about 16 cents) for a four pound loaf, effective Monday.

Standard flour was priced today at 35 shillings (about $8.75) for a 280-pound sack.

The basic economic factors influencing conditions in the wheat market are not likely to alter substantially in the next month, the Daily Telegraph's milling correspondent wrote. The influence of other factors, including the political, he said, however make it difficult to predict accurately.

AL CAPONE WALKS INTO DETECTIVE'S OFFICE IN CHICAGO

SURPRISES JOHN STEGE BY HIS SUDDEN ENTRY THIS AFTERNOON

GANGSTER CHIEF REVEALS HE HAD MOTORED FROM PHILADELPHIA TO CHICAGO

Chicago, March 21—(U.P.)—"Scarface" Al Capone unexpectedly walked into the office of Chief of Detectives John Stege at 1:30 this afternoon.

The gang chief, reported variously from almost every point of the compass, surprised Stege as much as he did his own followers and newspaper men who quickly gathered around to find out where he had been since he was released from prison in Philadelphia the first of the week.

None of Capone's band of hoodlums apparently were notified of the return of their chief as none of them were in sight.

One hand was bandaged and Capone kept it out of sight in his coat pocket.

"What happened to the hand, Al?" the United Press correspondent asked him.

"Nothing much," Capone said. "I burned it on a piece of roast beef."

The "Big Shot" revealed that he had driven here from Philadelphia in an automobile with Frankie Rio, his cellmate in prison.

The pair of ex-convicts arrived on Wednesday, the day most of their Chicago friends and enemies began to suspect that they had fled to Florida.

Since Wednesday, Capone said, he has been staying at the "home of a friend" in Chicago.

He exposed the palm of his hand to convince reporters that he was suffering from a burn instead of a bullet wound.

Capone revealed that he intended to leave shortly for Florida despite the announcement of Governor Doyle Carlton that the Chicago gang leader would be arrested on sight in the southern state.

"I knew Doyle Carlton before he was governor and I have no grievance with him now," Capone said.

"After about a month in Miami I'm coming back to Chicago."

Noted Mexican Flier in Attempt to Follow Lindbergh Trail

Mexico City, March 21—(U.P.)—Colonel Gustav Leon, noted Mexican aviator, will attempt in May to follow the Lindbergh air trail across the Atlantic, if efforts to finance the venture are successful.

Leon will fly alone, in a Lockheed-Vega plane. Incidentally, he will attempt to break the American's speed record.

Governor Francisco Elias of Sonora, one of the sponsors of the flight, heads a financial committee which already has received approximately $3,000 towards the venture. Two other governors, Dr. Jose Manutal Casaurranc of the federal district, and Augustin Olachea of the southern district of lower California, have contributed $2,000 and $500 respectively. A total of $30,000 is sought.

THEY DO THINGS DIFFERENTLY IN WINONA, SAYS HE

Evanston, Ill., March 21.—(U.P.)—They do things differently up in Winona, Minn., where Allen Thompson was brought up, so he says. He came to Evanston recently and decided to drop a line to the home folk.

The red mail box puzzled him but he struggled with it to get his letter posted. Firemen arrived before he succeeded. They listened to his story.

"All right, stranger," the fire chief assured Thompson, "give us the letter and we'll put it on the train for you. The station is next to the fire house."

DRYS MUSTER BIG GUNS TO CLOSE CASE

16 DAYS OF LAST 2 MONTHS DEVOTED BY COMMITTEE TO PROHIBITION QUESTION

HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE HEARS PROHIBITION ON TRIAL IN ARGUMENTS MADE

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 21.—Half a million words of wet and dry arguments were in the records of the house judiciary committee hearing today by stenographic count as prohibitionists were mustering their big guns to close their case next Wednesday and Thursday.

Sixteen days during the last two months have been devoted by the committee to developing the exciting prohibition situation from those on both sides of the question. It was supposed to be prohibition on trial after ten years on the statute books. But the jury — the committee — still stands about 13 to 4 in favor of the defense.

In a final drive, the drys will produce next week Dr. F. Scott McBride, legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League; Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, and E. C. Dinwiddie, of the World League Against Alcoholism—the big three of prohibition in Washington.

The following week the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment will be given an opportunity for rebuttal. Chairman Graham of the committee announced today there would be no limit of time on the wet rebuttal and in accordance with the custom of the courts there would be no sur-rebuttal allowed the drys.

Closing of the hearings will not mean an end of the prohibition controversy, however. It is scheduled to turn next to the senate.

The first clash will come when the Williamson bill transferring enforcement from the treasury to the justice department is brought up in the senate. It already has passed the house.

Meanwhile the senate judiciary committee is to meet Monday to vote on the Norris resolution calling for a senatorial inquiry into the federal enforcement unit. A fight over this also is promised on the floor.

With these prospects and others in the offing it appears likely a good part of the spring will be devoted by the senate to the prohibition issue.

SENATE RETAINS DUTY ON BUILDING BRICK BY A SINGLE VOTE

Washington, March 21.—(U.P.)—By a single vote, the senate today decided to retain the duties imposed by the house on building brick. The vote was 35 to 36.

Bricks, formerly on the free list, by the house at a rate of $1.25 a thousand on common building brick and five per cent, but not less than $1.50 on vitrified or arnamented brick.

HUCKINS FACES SEVEN YEARS OF IMPRISONMENT

PLUS FINE OF $5,000, OR A MINIMUM PENALTY OF 1 YEAR IN JAIL

JURY FINDS HIM GUILTY ON A CHARGE OF OBTAINING MONEY UNDER FALSE PRETENSES

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, March 21.—(U.P.)—George E. Huckins, once one of Cedar Rapids' most prominent citizens, today faced a maximum penalty of seven years' imprisonment and a fine of $5,000 or one year in jail as a minimum, as the result of having been found guilty on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The jury hearing his case returned its guilty verdict late yesterday after deliberating 25 hours. The defense immediately filed motion for a new trial and Judge F. C. Ellison granted ten days in which to prepare arguments.

Huckins was charged with defrauding hundreds of persons in Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska and California out of nearly $3,000,000 in a mysterious business enterprise which promised investors from 26 to 52 per cent interest. Several investors testified they lost their life savings.

Huckins' father, Elmer S. Huckins, also has been indicted on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Date for his trial has not been set.

GOVERNOR HARTLEY SENDS GREETING TO GOV. CHRISTIANSON

St. Paul, Minn., March 21.—(U.P.) — What the Carolina governors said to each other doesn't go, Governor Theodore Christianson said today when he received a carrier pigeon greeting from Governor Roland H. Hartley of Washington.

The message read: "As governor of the state of Washington, I extend to you and your people and the Zonta Club of Minnesota the greetings of the Zonta Club of Washington."

It was dispatched during the Pacific coast Zonta Clubs' spring convention, carried from Olympia to Tacoma by carrier pigeon and the remainder of the distance by regular mail.

WEATHER MAN GETS SIGNALS CROSSED TODAY

INSTEAD OF SPRINGLIKE WEATHER COUNTRY IS TREATED TO MID-WINTER DAYS

SPRING MAKES HER DEBUT AT 3:30 A. M., MANY NOT REALIZING IT

Washington, March 21.—(U.P.)—The weather man got his signals crossed today and instead of springlike weather the country generally was treated to a mid-winter day.

Few realized that spring made her 1930 debut today, but she did—at 3:30 A. M. Even the weather man was unaware of it. Told that this was the first day of spring, he replied in a bored air:

"Oh, yeah? Well, she'll get a reception like the first day of winter." A survey of the country indicated he was right.

A cold wave held the west and the northwest in its grasp. From 26 below in Manitoba, Canada, the thermometer rose only slightly through Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota, Minnesota, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Ohio. At Chicago it registered about 20 degrees above, but was due to drop more tonight.

Only in the south, where resort circulars claim everlasting sunshine, was the new season ushered in in the proper manner. The western cold wave failed to penetrate the south, usual March 21 temperatures prevailing throughout the south.

St. Paul, March 21.—As spring officially arrived in the northern half of the world, residents of the northwest today could choose between the calendar, the weather man or the actual cold facts.

The calendar said it was March 21, the first day of spring, the facts were that temperatures ranged down to two below zero, with chill winds. The weather man said it will be warmer tomorrow.

Duluth reported the lowest temperature in Minnesota—two below zero. Moorhead shivered in zero weather and other sections of the state reported cold north winds and temperatures not much above the zero mark.

The official prediction for Minnesota promised "fair and warmer."

INVITE BYRD TO VISIT HAWAII

Honolulu, T. H., March 21.—(U.P.)—An invitation to Rear Admiral Richard Byrd to visit the Hawaiian Islands enroute to New York from Australia was contained in a cable sent from here today by Governor Laurence Judd and the territorial Chamber of Commerce.

Byrd, homeward bound from new triumphs in aviation, exploration and scientific discoveries at the South Pole had announced intention of going direct to New York by way of the Panama Canal. A visit here would be several hundred miles off this course and, if decided upon, might mean the addition of one or two Pacific coast ports to his intinerary.

The Senate Conference Committee that heard unemployment facts at opening of its hearings on labor legislations, with their first witness. (Seated, left to right) Senators Vandenburg, Couzens, Johnson and Nye. (Back row) Senator Wagner, N. Y., and Professor Benjamin Squires, professor of economics of the University of Chicago, who stated facts about unemployment in the State of Illinois.

LOW PRICE OF FLOUR REDUCES PRICE OF BREAD IN LONDON

London, March 21. — (U.P.) — The low price of flour has resulted in a reduction in the price of bread here by a half a penny to eight pence (about 16 cents) for a four pound loaf, effective Monday.

Standard flour was priced today at 35 shillings (about $8.75) for a 280-pound sack.

The basic economic factors influencing conditions in the wheat market are not likely to alter substantially in the next month, the Daily Telegraph's milling correspondent wrote. The influence of other factors, including the political, he said, however make it difficult to predict accurately.

AL CAPONE WALKS INTO DETECTIVE'S OFFICE IN CHICAGO

SURPRISES JOHN STEGE BY HIS SUDDEN ENTRY THIS AFTERNOON

GANGSTER CHIEF REVEALS HE HAD MOTORED FROM PHILADELPHIA TO CHICAGO

Chicago, March 21—(U.P.)—"Scarface" Al Capone unexpectedly walked into the office of Chief of Detectives John Stege at 1:30 this afternoon.

The gang chief, reported variously from almost every point of the compass, surprised Stege as much as he did his own followers and newspaper men who quickly gathered around to find out where he had been since he was released from prison in Philadelphia the first of the week.

None of Capone's band of hoodlums apparently were notified of the return of their chief as none of them were in sight.

One hand was bandaged and Capone kept it out of sight in his coat pocket.

"What happened to the hand, Al?" the United Press correspondent asked him.

"Nothing much," Capone said. "I burned it on a piece of roast beef."

The "Big Shot" revealed that he had driven here from Philadelphia in an automobile with Frankie Rio, his cellmate in prison.

The pair of ex-convicts arrived on Wednesday, the day most of their Chicago friends and enemies began to suspect that they had fled to Florida.

Since Wednesday, Capone said, he has been staying at the "home of a friend" in Chicago.

He exposed the palm of his hand to convince reporters that he was suffering from a burn instead of a bullet wound.

Capone revealed that he intended to leave shortly for Florida despite the announcement of Governor Doyle Carlton that the Chicago gang leader would be arrested on sight in the southern state.

"I knew Doyle Carlton before he was governor and I have no grievance with him now," Capone said.

"After about a month in Miami I'm coming back to Chicago."

Noted Mexican Flier in Attempt to Follow Lindbergh Trail

Mexico City, March 21—(U.P.)—Colonel Gustav Leon, noted Mexican aviator, will attempt in May to follow the Lindbergh air trail across the Atlantic, if efforts to finance the venture are successful.

Leon will fly alone, in a Lockheed-Vega plane. Incidentally, he will attempt to break the American's speed record.

Governor Francisco Elias of Sonora, one of the sponsors of the flight, heads a financial committee which already has received approximately $3,000 towards the venture. Two other governors, Dr. Jose Manutal Casaurranc of the federal district, and Augustin Olachea of the southern district of lower California, have contributed $2,000 and $500 respectively. A total of $30,000 is sought.

THEY DO THINGS DIFFERENTLY IN WINONA, SAYS HE

Evanston, Ill., March 21.—(U.P.)—They do things differently up in Winona, Minn., where Allen Thompson was brought up, so he says. He came to Evanston recently and decided to drop a line to the home folk.

The red mail box puzzled him but he struggled with it to get his letter posted. Firemen arrived before he succeeded. They listened to his story.

"All right, stranger," the fire chief assured Thompson, "give us the letter and we'll put it on the train for you. The station is next to the fire house."

DRYS MUSTER BIG GUNS TO CLOSE CASE

16 DAYS OF LAST 2 MONTHS DEVOTED BY COMMITTEE TO PROHIBITION QUESTION

HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE HEARS PROHIBITION ON TRIAL IN ARGUMENTS MADE

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 21.—Half a million words of wet and dry arguments were in the records of the house judiciary committee hearing today by stenographic count as prohibitionists were mustering their big guns to close their case next Wednesday and Thursday.

Sixteen days during the last two months have been devoted by the committee to developing the exciting prohibition situation from those on both sides of the question. It was supposed to be prohibition on trial after ten years on the statute books. But the jury — the committee — still stands about 13 to 4 in favor of the defense.

In a final drive, the drys will produce next week Dr. F. Scott McBride, legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League; Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, and E. C. Dinwiddie, of the World League Against Alcoholism—the big three of prohibition in Washington.

The following week the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment will be given an opportunity for rebuttal. Chairman Graham of the committee announced today there would be no limit of time on the wet rebuttal and in accordance with the custom of the courts there would be no sur-rebuttal allowed the drys.

Closing of the hearings will not mean an end of the prohibition controversy, however. It is scheduled to turn next to the senate.

The first clash will come when the Williamson bill transferring enforcement from the treasury to the justice department is brought up in the senate. It already has passed the house.

Meanwhile the senate judiciary committee is to meet Monday to vote on the Norris resolution calling for a senatorial inquiry into the federal enforcement unit. A fight over this also is promised on the floor.

With these prospects and others in the offing it appears likely a good part of the spring will be devoted by the senate to the prohibition issue.

SENATE RETAINS DUTY ON BUILDING BRICK BY A SINGLE VOTE

Washington, March 21.—(U.P.)—By a single vote, the senate today decided to retain the duties imposed by the house on building brick. The vote was 35 to 36.

Bricks, formerly on the free list, by the house at a rate of $1.25 a thousand on common building brick and five per cent, but not less than $1.50 on vitrified or arnamented brick.

HUCKINS FACES SEVEN YEARS OF IMPRISONMENT

PLUS FINE OF $5,000, OR A MINIMUM PENALTY OF 1 YEAR IN JAIL

JURY FINDS HIM GUILTY ON A CHARGE OF OBTAINING MONEY UNDER FALSE PRETENSES

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, March 21.—(U.P.)—George E. Huckins, once one of Cedar Rapids' most prominent citizens, today faced a maximum penalty of seven years' imprisonment and a fine of $5,000 or one year in jail as a minimum, as the result of having been found guilty on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The jury hearing his case returned its guilty verdict late yesterday after deliberating 25 hours. The defense immediately filed motion for a new trial and Judge F. C. Ellison granted ten days in which to prepare arguments.

Huckins was charged with defrauding hundreds of persons in Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska and California out of nearly $3,000,000 in a mysterious business enterprise which promised investors from 26 to 52 per cent interest. Several investors testified they lost their life savings.

Huckins' father, Elmer S. Huckins, also has been indicted on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Date for his trial has not been set.

FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1930

Welcome to Brainerd

BRAINERD welcomes the spring shoppers to this city. Spring Trade Week, as heralded by this edition of the Brainerd Dispatch, begins Monday, March 24, and extends to and including Saturday, March 29.

Morally supported by the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce, it has been made a community affair. The way of the shopper will be laid in most pleasant lines. Some 400 prizes will stimulate his interest and make the shopping tour about town a matter of real value.

The attendance next week will be an indication as to what can be accomplished when full powers of merchandising are joined with the best in publicity. Interest will be cumulative. As the first shoppers reveal the bargains they have purchased and tell their neighbors of their success in winning prizes, others will join them the next day. Brainerd will be a shopping mecca all next week, not alone for home people but for the crowds anticipated from Brainerd trade territory.

Merchants and theatre, Chamber of Commerce and printer's ink, plus a rare, contagious enthusiasm, will make Spring Trade Week an outstanding event in current community history.

Greatest Flower Exhibit

THE first National Flower Show ever held in the Northwest will open its doors Saturday afternoon, March 29, in the Minneapolis auditorium. It will be held under the auspices of the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists.

From the individual interested in a small window box to those who have garden areas of a thousand feet square or larger, there will be detailed information, ideas and inspiration in this big flower exposition. It will be the event of a lifetime to attend the show and see its marvelous beauties.

There will be sixty jurors who will pass judgment on the entries and IrwinBertermann of Indianapolis, Ind., will be chairman.

The show will cover more area than any of the national flower and garden shows held previously. It will occupy 88,000 square feet, and a whole week will be required to stage all exhibits and to make the awards.

Disraeli a Great Film

"DISRAELI" as presented last night at the theatre is a great film giving free scope to the remarkable histrionic ability of George Arliss supported by a cast of capable actors. The film play in no way diminishes the glory attained in the stage rendition, in fact it enhances it.

It gives a rare glimpse of British colonial expansion in the old days when acquisition of the Suez canal meant the growth of empire. The film breathes life into the pages of history.

THE airport at Austin is to be enlarged by the purchase of 50 acres.

FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1930

Welcome to Brainerd

BRAINERD welcomes the spring shoppers to this city. Spring Trade Week, as heralded by this edition of the Brainerd Dispatch, begins Monday, March 24, and extends to and including Saturday, March 29.

Morally supported by the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce, it has been made a community affair. The way of the shopper will be laid in most pleasant lines. Some 400 prizes will stimulate his interest and make the shopping tour about town a matter of real value.

The attendance next week will be an indication as to what can be accomplished when full powers of merchandising are joined with the best in publicity. Interest will be cumulative. As the first shoppers reveal the bargains they have purchased and tell their neighbors of their success in winning prizes, others will join them the next day. Brainerd will be a shopping mecca all next week, not alone for home people but for the crowds anticipated from Brainerd trade territory.

Merchants and theatre, Chamber of Commerce and printer's ink, plus a rare, contagious enthusiasm, will make Spring Trade Week an outstanding event in current community history.

Greatest Flower Exhibit

THE first National Flower Show ever held in the Northwest will open its doors Saturday afternoon, March 29, in the Minneapolis auditorium. It will be held under the auspices of the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists.

From the individual interested in a small window box to those who have garden areas of a thousand feet square or larger, there will be detailed information, ideas and inspiration in this big flower exposition. It will be the event of a lifetime to attend the show and see its marvelous beauties.

There will be sixty jurors who will pass judgment on the entries and IrwinBertermann of Indianapolis, Ind., will be chairman.

The show will cover more area than any of the national flower and garden shows held previously. It will occupy 88,000 square feet, and a whole week will be required to stage all exhibits and to make the awards.

Disraeli a Great Film

"DISRAELI" as presented last night at the theatre is a great film giving free scope to the remarkable histrionic ability of George Arliss supported by a cast of capable actors. The film play in no way diminishes the glory attained in the stage rendition, in fact it enhances it.

It gives a rare glimpse of British colonial expansion in the old days when acquisition of the Suez canal meant the growth of empire. The film breathes life into the pages of history.

THE airport at Austin is to be enlarged by the purchase of 50 acres.

New York, March 21.—Billy Jones and Ernie Hare will glorify in song a domestic duty which usually brings frowns when they sing "Washing Dishes with My Sweetie" over WJZ and associated NBC stations at 9 p. m. today. The song was written by Peter Dixon, NBC's cub reporter, and is being hailed as a hit.

A group of German songs will go out from WEAF and associated NBC stations at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow. The Uhland Bund Singing society, one of New York's oldest male choruses will broadcast, and their leader, George Friedgen, will be wielding the same baton he has carried in the group for 22 years.

Nathalie Boshko, distinguished Russian violinist, makes her debut on the recitalists program to be heard over WJZ and associated stations each Saturday at 11 a. m. tomorrow. Miss Boshko recently returned from her second world-wide concert tour.

A series of popular scientific talks will be inaugurated over WABC and the Columbia network at 3:45 p. m. March 28 by Dr. Warren S. Thompson, director of the Scripps foundation for research in population problems at Miami university.

LAST NIGHT REVEALED MOST PALPABLE SET-UP

ITALIAN GIANT STEPPED ON FRANK ZAVITA OF NEWARK, N. J.

WHOLE FIGHT ONLY LASTED ONE MINUTE, 51 SECONDS OF FIRST ROUND

Jacksonville, Fla., March 21.—(U.P.)—The knockout which made it an even dozen for Primo Carnera since he began his much-ballyhooed American tour stood out today as the most palpable set-up in as many patent victories.

The Italian giant last night stepped on Frank Zavita of Newark, N. J., in one minute, fifty-one seconds of the first round.

The most outstanding feature of the fight was the obvious fact that Zavita had learned little but courage in his home-town fights which comprise his pugilistic career.

The twelfth so-called battle gave the Italian a new record for hasty knockouts which now stands at 47 minutes and 26 seconds official time in the ring and 55 per cent of the estimated $12,000 in gate receipts last night boosted Primo's earnings for the tour to approximately $111,500.

Primo weighed in at 275, Zavita at 235. The Italian had everything that Zavita needed but couldn't produce.

After the fight Promoter Harry Sortell offered Pa Stribling $25,000 for a match between Carnera and Young Stribling in Atlanta. The elder Stribling delayed the decision.

USES ILLEGALLY CITY ELECTRICITY

H. Huber Fined $25; Denies Use of Same; Meter Used for Check

Denying to the last that he was guilty of using electricity of the city from a tapped wire, H. Huber, painter bachelor, who rooms on the second floor of the building which once housed the famous "Last Turn Saloon" on Front street, was found guilty in municipal court this morning by Judge J. H. Warner of converting to his own use electricity owned by the city without permission from the city.

Mr. Huber in testifying in his defense yesterday afternoon told the court that the wire had been tapped last fall by an electrician friend from Owatonna who was visiting him.

This man tapped the wire Mr. Huber said so that he could have light in his bedroom. It was done against his wishes, Huber said, and the lights were not used after he left.

Testimony by wire men of the City Water and Light Department stated that a meter had been placed to check up on the current used. These figures were presented to the court by Elmer Dahl and Henry Roberts.

Mr. Huber told the court that he had used kerosene lights since his meter had been taken out over a year ago following an altercation with the water and light department over a bill.

The defendant was fined $25 or 20 days and on his failure to pay the fine sentence was suspended for 30 days.

Police officers of the city have been instructed to give all possible information to strangers and to do their part in making Spring Trade Week a success. For the benefit of strangers the rest room at the city hall will be open all day.

BAY LAKE LADIES HAVE CELEBRATION

Observe 23rd Anniversary of Start of Aid With Dinner and Program

A dinner and program was given last evening by the Bay Lake ladies aid at Green Lantern, Bay Lake, to celebrate the 23rd anniversary of the aid. Between 150 and 200 were present to assist in the celebration. They were seated in four groups, each group representing a season of the year—spring, summer, fall and winter.

A feature of the program was the flower drill put on by Miss Mayme Geyer, teacher at Bay Lake, with 15 boys and girls taking part. Seven little girls came out first, all dressed in white, carrying garlands of roses. They gave a very pretty drill, accompanied by the piano, after which they lined up at the back of the hall and the seven boys dressed like bakers with their white suits and white caps. Each boy carried a sack of flour on his shoulder, each a different brand. The boys gave a dance and drill and the girls again joined them. Two of the boys then brought in a large hogshead which was labeled "flower of the family."

A song was sung about the various flowers ending with 'The Finest Flower, the Flower of the Family" at which the top was taken off and little Lois Fuller, dressed in pink was lifted out. The drill was very pretty and effective and was heartily applauded.

Those taking part in the drill were: girls, Helen Nelson, Geraldine Nelson, Viola Christenson, Dorothy Christenson, Bernice Christenson, Lois Fuller, Lorraine Frederick, and Isabel Frederick; boys, Morris Taylor, Leslie Fuller, Max Ruttger, Jr., William Nelson, Walter Fuller, Leonard Arr, Gerald Frederick.

Other numbers of the program included.

Duet—Mrs. Ed Ruttger and Mrs. Gordon Gray.

Talk—Judge L. B. Kinder.

Bouquets of roses were presented to Mrs. A. L. Miller and Mrs. Joseph Ruttger, the two charter members of the aid.

Mrs. M. J. Ruttger was chairman of the program committee.

USES ILLEGALLY CITY ELECTRICITY

H. Huber Fined $25; Denies Use of Same; Meter Used for Check

Denying to the last that he was guilty of using electricity of the city from a tapped wire, H. Huber, painter bachelor, who rooms on the second floor of the building which once housed the famous "Last Turn Saloon" on Front street, was found guilty in municipal court this morning by Judge J. H. Warner of converting to his own use electricity owned by the city without permission from the city.

Mr. Huber in testifying in his defense yesterday afternoon told the court that the wire had been tapped last fall by an electrician friend from Owatonna who was visiting him.

This man tapped the wire Mr. Huber said so that he could have light in his bedroom. It was done against his wishes, Huber said, and the lights were not used after he left.

Testimony by wire men of the City Water and Light Department stated that a meter had been placed to check up on the current used. These figures were presented to the court by Elmer Dahl and Henry Roberts.

Mr. Huber told the court that he had used kerosene lights since his meter had been taken out over a year ago following an altercation with the water and light department over a bill.

The defendant was fined $25 or 20 days and on his failure to pay the fine sentence was suspended for 30 days.

BAY LAKE LADIES HAVE CELEBRATION

Observe 23rd Anniversary of Start of Aid With Dinner and Program

A dinner and program was given last evening by the Bay Lake ladies aid at Green Lantern, Bay Lake, to celebrate the 23rd anniversary of the aid. Between 150 and 200 were present to assist in the celebration. They were seated in four groups, each group representing a season of the year—spring, summer, fall and winter.

A feature of the program was the flower drill put on by Miss Mayme Geyer, teacher at Bay Lake, with 15 boys and girls taking part. Seven little girls came out first, all dressed in white, carrying garlands of roses. They gave a very pretty drill, accompanied by the piano, after which they lined up at the back of the hall and the seven boys dressed like bakers with their white suits and white caps. Each boy carried a sack of flour on his shoulder, each a different brand. The boys gave a dance and drill and the girls again joined them. Two of the boys then brought in a large hogshead which was labeled "flower of the family."

A song was sung about the various flowers ending with 'The Finest Flower, the Flower of the Family" at which the top was taken off and little Lois Fuller, dressed in pink was lifted out. The drill was very pretty and effective and was heartily applauded.

Those taking part in the drill were: girls, Helen Nelson, Geraldine Nelson, Viola Christenson, Dorothy Christenson, Bernice Christenson, Lois Fuller, Lorraine Frederick, and Isabel Frederick; boys, Morris Taylor, Leslie Fuller, Max Ruttger, Jr., William Nelson, Walter Fuller, Leonard Arr, Gerald Frederick.

Other numbers of the program included.

History of the Ladies Aid—Mrs. H. E. Knieff.

Reading, Bear Story—Ed Ruttger.

Duet—Mrs. Ed Ruttger and Mrs. Gordon Gray.

Talk—Judge L. B. Kinder.

Song — Ed, Will, Alex and Max Ruttger, Ralph and Walter Waffensmith.

Talk—D. H. Fullerton.

BUD TAYLOR IN DECISION OVER BAT BATTALINO

DOES NOT GET CHAMPIONSHIP BECAUSE HE CAME INTO RING OVERWEIGHT

Detroit, Mich., March 21.—(AP)—Bud Taylor, the veteran featherweight battler from Terre Haute, Ind., today held a decision over Bat Battalino, the world title holder, but he did not have the championship because he was forced to come into the ring last night overweight.

Taylor, who weighed 127½ pounds to Battalino's 127, was awarded the decision at the end of ten rounds of fast milling, which saw the champion on the floor once.

The lone knockdown came at the start of the second round. It was the first blow struck—a sizzling left to the jaw—and Battalino went down on his knees. He waited until the count reached eight before he got up.

Zane Grey's First Talker "The Lone Star Ranger," Loaded With Big Thrills

To all talking picture yet made, it is said, surpasses the vivid action of "The Lone Star Ranger," Fox Movietone all talking romance of the Southwest, adapted from Zane Grey's story that has been read by millions of people. This picture will be seen and heard at the Paramount Saturday only.

George O'Brien, one of the most popular leading men in all talking pictures, portrays the leading role, while Sue Carol, beautiful, charming and vivacious screen actress, enacts the leading feminine character and the two provide the love interest.

O'Brien was selected to play the role of Buck Duane because the part seems to fit him. He is tall, handsome and athletic in addition to qualifying as a talented actor. Then, too, the character required a man lightning fast with a gun and O'Brien, long a student of his father, until recently chief-of-police of San Francisco, mastered the art of "throwing a gun" before he thought of a career in motion pictures. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that O'Brien's father has, for many years, held the record for drawing from the hip and emptying a six shot gun in four seconds.

"MASTER of MONEY"
BY ROY VICKERS

CHAPTER XXXVI.

"IF you find it charming you must have guessed its secret," said Maurios. "You have discovered that it is unreal—the fabric of a dream. Others have always told me, in varying phrases, that it is a richly appointed house. That has pleased me because I am purse proud."

"Purse proud! That's really funny," laughed Shirley.

"It is funny, because it has the surprise of truth," agreed Maurois. "I began life with very little indeed. I determined to become rich and I have become rich."

"That is very romantic," said Shirley.

"Too romantic!" said Maurois. "The romance has never crystallized into reality. It is the curse of money-making that it remains incurably romantic. In spite of myself, I am still making money, for I have attained the fairy-story book ideal of the purse of Fortunatus."

"You must be immensely rich if your wealth is inexhaustible!" said Shirley.

"Not so very rich," corrected Maurios. "You forget that Fortunatus was a spender. He thought only of a purse into which he could perpetually dip for his needs and his pleasure.

"Now it is impossible to spend more than about a quarter million a year on oneself—even to do that would require a great deal of ingenuity. Few of the great millionaires of the world actually spend as much as that."

"It's hard to visualize," agreed Shirley.

"That is why I thought more or less literally of the purse of Fortunatus. It is not hard to visualize, say, five thousand dollars in one's private banking account. In a day you spend perhaps five hundred dollars, perhaps a thousand. Suppose you were to know that whatever you spent, your banking account at the end of every day would show a credit balance of exactly five thousand dollars.

"Suppose that the solitary condition were that you should spend the money on your own needs and pleasures? . . . To be able to provide the purse of Fortunatus in its modern form—that was the ideal that inspired me. It has been a financial possibility for years now, but, as I have told you, my house is a house of dreams."

Something within Shirley bristled. The drift of the conversation had been meaningless to her but there had crept into his voice a quality that alarmed her intuition. Instantly her reason and her cynicism came to the rescue.

Maurois was an "elderly gentleman" who liked talking about himself—that was all. This fanciful nonsense about the dream-woman and the purse of Fortunatus could have no personal application.

"I am sorry your dreams have never come true, Monsieur Maurois," she said briskly. "But isn't it just a little bit Eastern? I mean, you have thought out the most wonderful toy in the world. Don't you think that in the twentieth century women have grown a little old for toys?"

"No," an answered emphatically. "They have merely changed the fashion in toys as in everything else. Their toys used to be literal glittering things—a tiara, perhaps, a fountain in a Paris garden—a villa on the Riviera. No—I have hardly noted the change—it is a seat in Congress, is it not, or perhaps—"

He hesitated.

"Do go on, Monsieur Mourois," she invited.

"Or perhaps, dear lady, a concession from a foreign Government.

Shirley controlled herself, fought back the angry flush that would have mounted to her cheeks. Her thoughts were rioting. He must have seen that photograph, she told herself, but could not have given herself any reason for thinking so. . . . She reminded herself that she was dependent on his limousine.

"Oh, that's a dig at me!" she laughed, with a deliberate display of stupidity. "And I only wish the taunt were deserved. I'm afraid it isn't a toy to me—I've invested all the money my father left me."

"I am sorry to hear that," said Maurois. "Poor old Cuthbert Kelton must have put in nearly everything that he had."

Again came the little shock of surprise. Shirley had said no word of Macedonian Developments to the Frenchman. Yet he knew.

"When I was in New York last, Mr. Kelton suggested that I might interest myself, but my hands were very full. A very delightful man. I dined with him and met his eldest son. I suppose he inherited the shares?"

"Yes, and I acquired them from him," put in Shirley quickly. "You know the whole history of the Company, I see, Monsieur Maurois?"

"More or less. The country is comparatively small and one has to keep informed."

Shirley rose to go. Maurois rang for the limousine. She went for her cloak, feeling a wild, unreasoning desire to get away.

When she returned to the hall, he was waiting for her.

"If Stavros should prove difficult, I should regard it as a privilege to assist," he said. "For myself I have always found him reasonably—obedient."

Shirley thanked him, said that she could not dream of troubling so busy a man and got into the limousine.

It was not until she got home that she faced the fact that Monsieur Maurois had most deliberately offered her the concession.

On the following morning, Shirley was able to persuade herself that she had exaggerated the importance of her conversation with Maurois—that, in fact, it had no importance at all. Maurois had shown that he could speak foolishly and even, if one were inclined to be prudish, more than a little offensively.

"If I've got to fight my way through all those officials, it's no good being offended easily and snubbing everybody who deserves it," she told herself. "I can see as little of Maurois as possible, but I simply cannot afford to offend him."

She would just mention to Alan that she agreed with him that the Frenchman was an amiable superfluity who must not be offended.

As a matter of fact, when Alan came back two days later she forgot all about Maurois for the time. She heard the car stop outside and ran to open the front door. He bounded up the steps and gripped her hand, his face, his whole person, radiating good humor.

"Hullo, Shirley!" he exclaimed heartily. "Hope you've managed all right while I've been away. Jove, I have had a time!"

She had not known him so hearty, so pleased with himself and her, since his return from Mexico.

She gave him as much small-talk of her doings as he wanted and then:

"You look as if you've got good news, Alan?"

"I don't think there's much in the way of news," he answered. "At least, I've found nothing except a lot of facts that ought to have been in those reports. The fellow on the spot evidently suffered from an excess of modesty, or else wrote a report which never reached old Kelton. . . . Do you know that about six weeks' work would bring that railway into being! The track is made the whole way—and there's only about forty miles of metals to lay.

"These comitadji fellows, you know—they're not spiteful! They simply want money. Money again, Shirley! They don't destroy things they've no use for, such as a dump of rails—a couple of locomotive engines, trucks and what-not. They've no use for them and they leave them alone. With a good gang and six weeks' work I'd have something to show for it, anyway."

"You're just waiting for me to do my part, Alan," she said wistfully.

"Not altogether. One can't do much in the Winter here because these rains, although they don't amount to much, are heavy enough to hang up the work. The Summer, for practical purposes, begins about March. I think I shall amuse myself by getting everything ready for a big push then—even if the push never comes off. First thing I want is a bath. Then we'll see if we can amuse ourselves in some way this evening. I expect you've been pretty dull, eh?"

Shirley marveled as he disappeared. He looked ten years younger.

An hour later he reappeared in evening dress and laughed at her surprise.

"Did I mention that I'm taking you to the opera tonight?" he said, breezily. "On the way back I dug out the Directors of Macedonian Developments. They're all dummies and could give me no information at all, except that they were amply willing to do what I told them. One of them told me there is a good traveling operatic company from Athens—they're doing Faust tonight and I thought if you'd care about it we might blow in."

"I'd simply love to, Alan!" she cried eagerly. "How delightful of you to think of it! I'll just have time to dress before dinner."

It was the happiest evening Shirley had spent for a long time—perhaps the happiest evening of her life. The theatre was like small town theatres in the States. Faust was the only opera her aunt could endure and she herself was heartily tired of it. Nevertheless, she enjoyed every minute of the evening.

From time to time she glanced at Alan. His musical sense was far less developed than hers. Faust was comparatively new to him and so was appreciated. She leaned back in their box so that she could see his face and enjoyed his enjoyment.

"Fine, wasn't it!" he exclaimed when the curtain had fallen on the last act. "Of course, the scenery is a bit primitive, but the singing was excellent." He was holding her cloak and she smiled to herself with infinite indulgence as he plastered it on to her with unpracticed fingers. "I'm all for a bit of frivolity now and a gain, you know, Shirley. That fellow gave me the name of a cafe where I could take you to supper. Come along."

"He was unlike all other men in the world," she thought. He was being pleasant, companionable trying to play with her. Inevitably, again she thought of him as a bear but this time as a nice bear determined to dance on skittles.

As they entered the cafe there came to them queer, wild music of native instruments.

"Better stick pretty close to me!" said Alan. "I don't know what this place is like so we must be ready to come out at a moment's notice. You'd better hang on to my arm."

BUD TAYLOR IN DECISION OVER BAT BATTALINO

DOES NOT GET CHAMPIONSHIP BECAUSE HE CAME INTO RING OVERWEIGHT

Detroit, Mich., March 21.—(U.P.)—Bud Taylor, the veteran featherweight battler from Terre Haute, Ind., today held a decision over Bat Battalino, the world title holder, but he did not have the championship because he was forced to come into the ring last night overweight.

Taylor, who weighed 127½ pounds to Battalino's 127, was awarded the decision at the end of ten rounds of fast milling, which saw the champion on the floor once.

The lone knockdown came at the start of the second round. It was the first blow struck—a sizzling left to the jaw—and Battalino went down on his knees. He waited until the count reached eight before he got up.

Zane Grey's First Talker "The Lone Star Ranger," Loaded With Big Thrills

As all talking picture yet made, it is said, surpasses the vivid action of "The Lone Star Ranger," Fox Movietone all talking romance of the Southwest, adapted from Zane Grey's story that has been read by millions of people. This picture will be seen and heard at the Paramount Saturday only.

George O'Brien, one of the most popular leading men in all talking pictures, portrays the leading role, while Sue Carol, beautiful, charming and vivacious screen actress, enacts the leading feminine character and the two provide the love interest.

O'Brien was selected to play the role of Buck Duane because the part seems to fit him. He is tall, handsome and athletic in addition to qualifying as a talented actor. Then, too, the character required a man lightning fast with a gun and O'Brien, long a student of his father, until recently chief-of-police of San Francisco, mastered the art of "throwing a gun" before he thought of a career in motion pictures. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that O'Brien's father has, for many years, held the record for drawing from the hip and emptying a six shot gun in four seconds.

"MASTER of MONEY"
BY ROY VICKERS

CHAPTER XXXVI.

"IF you find it charming you must have guessed its secret," said Maurios. "You have discovered that it is unreal—the fabric of a dream. Others have always told me, in varying phrases, that it is a richly appointed house. That has pleased me because I am purse proud."

"Purse proud! That's really funny," laughed Shirley.

"It is funny, because it has the surprise of truth," agreed Maurois. "I began life with very little indeed. I determined to become rich and I have become rich."

"That is very romantic," said Shirley.

"Too romantic!" said Maurois. "The romance has never crystallized into reality. It is the curse of money-making that it remains incurably romantic. In spite of myself, I am still making money, for I have attained the fairy-story book ideal of the purse of Fortunatus."

"You must be immensely rich if your wealth is inexhaustible!" said Shirley.

"Not so very rich," corrected Maurios. "You forget that Fortunatus was a spender. He thought only of a purse into which he could perpetually dip for his needs and his pleasure.

"Now it is impossible to spend more than about a quarter million a year on oneself—even to do that would require a great deal of ingenuity. Few of the great millionaires of the world actually spend as much as that."

"It's hard to visualize," agreed Shirley.

"That is why I thought more or less literally of the purse of Fortunatus. It is not hard to visualize, say, five thousand dollars in one's private banking account. In a day you spend perhaps five hundred dollars, perhaps a thousand. Suppose you were to know that whatever you spent, your banking account at the end of every day would show a credit balance of exactly five thousand dollars.

"Suppose that the solitary condition were that you should spend the money on your own needs and pleasures? . . . To be able to provide the purse of Fortunatus in its modern form—that was the ideal that inspired me. It has been a financial possibility for years now, but, as I have told you, my house is a house of dreams."

Something within Shirley bristled. The drift of the conversation had been meaningless to her but there had crept into his voice a quality that alarmed her intuition. Instantly her reason and her cynicism came to the rescue.

Maurois was an "elderly gentleman" who liked talking about himself—that was all. This fanciful nonsense about the dream-woman and the purse of Fortunatus could have no personal application.

"I am sorry your dreams have never come true, Monsieur Maurois," she said briskly. "But isn't it just a little bit Eastern? I mean, you have thought out the most wonderful toy in the world. Don't you think that in the twentieth century women have grown a little old for toys?"

"No," an answered emphatically. "They have merely changed the fashion in toys as in everything else. Their toys used to be literal glittering things—a tiara, perhaps, a fountain in a Paris garden—a villa on the Riviera. No—I have hardly noted the change—it is a seat in Congress, is it not, or perhaps—"

He hesitated.

"Do go on, Monsieur Mourois," she invited.

"Or perhaps, dear lady, a concession from a foreign Government.

Shirley controlled herself, fought back the angry flush that would have mounted to her cheeks. Her thoughts were rioting. He must have seen that photograph, she told herself, but could not have given herself any reason for thinking so. . . . She reminded herself that she was dependent on his limousine.

"Oh, that's a dig at me!" she laughed, with a deliberate display of stupidity. "And I only wish the taunt were deserved. I'm afraid it isn't a toy to me—I've invested all the money my father left me."

"I am sorry to hear that," said Maurois. "Poor old Cuthbert Kelton must have put in nearly everything that he had."

Again came the little shock of surprise. Shirley had said no word of Macedonian Developments to the Frenchman. Yet he knew.

"When I was in New York last, Mr. Kelton suggested that I might interest myself, but my hands were very full. A very delightful man. I dined with him and met his eldest son. I suppose he inherited the shares?"

"Yes, and I acquired them from him," put in Shirley quickly. "You know the whole history of the Company, I see, Monsieur Maurois?"

"More or less. The country is comparatively small and one has to keep informed."

Shirley rose to go. Maurois rang for the limousine. She went for her cloak, feeling a wild, unreasoning desire to get away.

When she returned to the hall, he was waiting for her.

"If Stavros should prove difficult, I should regard it as a privilege to assist," he said. "For myself I have always found him reasonably—obedient."

Shirley thanked him, said that she could not dream of troubling so busy a man and got into the limousine.

It was not until she got home that she faced the fact that Monsieur Maurois had most deliberately offered her the concession.

On the following morning, Shirley was able to persuade herself that she had exaggerated the importance of her conversation with Maurois—that, in fact, it had no importance at all. # PARAMOUNT SHOWS FOR TRADE WEEK

ature Attraction Bookings Include "Anna Christie" and "Chasing Rainbows"

The Paramount theatre has arrang- to show the following pictures as cial attractions during trade week, cooperation with the merchants of city who are putting on specials ring the week.

In addition to the special pictures, ey are also giving away a number free tickets each day at their box ce.

Showing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday

As their first attraction they will ow Greta Garbo in her first talking cture, the screen's adaptation of the mous Eugene O'Neill play, "Anna ristie" and undobutedly the most patiently awaited production to me to the audible screen.

To set all minds at rest, it must be id at the very beginning that Greta rbo's speaking voice is just as you agined it would or should be. Her ice is low, a bit husky, revealing in natural toned modulation, an un- rstanding and sympathy for her s that is well nigh amazing. For hough Miss Garbo has never ap- ared on the legitimate stage, her ice reveals her personality in terms the dramatic. In other words, she not merely sincere (not that sin- rity is to be dismissed lightly) but at is even more important, she is artist who endows the spoken word th vital, magnetic significance.

And in appraising Miss Garbo's in- rpretation, it must be remembered at she, like Anna Christie, is a Scan- navian. She knows Anna, feels and lieves in her. And, the result of at understanding is recreated in her autifully stirring portrayal.

Showing Thursday and Friday

Their second attraction for the ek features Chas. King and Bessie ve together again in "Chasing Rain- ws."

How does it feel to sit in a theatre d watch yourself move audiences th a song?

Charles King smiled that crinkly, yish smile of his and shook his ad.

"Gee, it seems like a dream to me," said. "I don't think I'll ever get ed to it. It never seems like ME there on the screen."

King, who made the "You Were eant For Me" and "Broadway Me- dy" hits in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's first musical extravaganza and who scored again with "Your Mother and Mine" in the "Hollywood Revue of 1929," for years has been crooning to audiences from the musical comedy stage.

Now, teamed once more with Bessie Love with whom he made his talking debut, he is singing tender ballads in "Chasing Rainbows."

Saturday, March 29

The wide expanse of the west that was, provides the picturesque locale for "Romance of Rio Grande," the feature all talking Fox Movietone pic- ture with Warner Baxter, Mary Dun- can and Antonio Moreno, announced for the attraction at the Paramount on Saturday only, March 29.

Massive scenes of the Rio Grande region, plains dotted with enormous herds of cattle, and the rare grandeur of the old Mexican estates, give pic- torial testimony to the gigantic scale on which Fox Films staged this com- pelling romantic picture of the west, which is an Alfred Santell directorial effort.

Brightened with the dialect the pic- ture version is said to be the most engaging western drama to appear since the advent of the talkies.

GOING TO COLLEGE FOR SOCIAL ADVANCEMENT

Minneapolis, Minn., March 21.—(UP) —The idea of going to college for so- cial advancement does not work to the mental advantage of the student, Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, 31- year-old president of Chicago univer- sity, told 250 graduates at University of Minnesota spring commencement exercises yesterday.

"If a sufficient degree of mental status is obtained by the normal per- son," Dr. Hutchins said, "social ad- vancement will take care of itself. Both college students and their par- ents must understand this to obtain the full benefits from America's vast educational machine."

Dr. Hutchins, the youngest presi- dent ever appointed to a major United States university, said he is making a study of the attitudes and methods of teaching students in American univer- sities.

The commencement exercises were held in Cyrus Northrup Memorial auditorium at 11 a. m.

PARAMOUNT SHOWS FOR TRADE WEEK

Feature Attraction Bookings Include "Anna Christie" and "Chasing Rainbows"

The Paramount theatre has arranged to show the following pictures as special attractions during trade week, in cooperation with the merchants of the city who are putting on specials during the week.

In addition to the special pictures, they are also giving away a number of free tickets each day at their box office.

Showing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday

As their first attraction they will show Greta Garbo in her first talking picture, the screen's adaptation of the famous Eugene O'Neill play, "Anna Christie" and undoubtedly the most patiently awaited production to come to the audible screen.

To put all minds at rest, it must be said at the very beginning that Greta Garbo's speaking voice is just as you have imagined it would or should be. Her voice is low, a bit husky, revealing in its natural toned modulation, an understanding and sympathy for her role that is well nigh amazing. For although Miss Garbo has never appeared on the legitimate stage, her voice reveals her personality in terms of the dramatic. In other words, she is not merely sincere (not that sincerity is to be dismissed lightly) but what is even more important, she is an artist who endows the spoken word with vital, magnetic significance.

And in appraising Miss Garbo's interpretation, it must be remembered that she, like Anna Christie, is a Scandinavian. She knows Anna, feels and believes in her. And, the result of that understanding is recreated in her beautifully stirring portrayal.

Showing Thursday and Friday

Their second attraction for the week features Chas. King and Bessie Love together again in "Chasing Rainbows."

How does it feel to sit in a theatre and watch yourself move audiences with a song?

Charles King smiled that crinkly, boyish smile of his and shook his head.

"Gee, it seems like a dream to me," he said. "I don't think I'll ever get used to it. It never seems like ME up there on the screen."

King, who made the "You Were Meant For Me" and "Broadway Melody" hits in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's first musical extravaganza and who scored again with "Your Mother and Mine" in the "Hollywood Revue of 1929," for years has been crooning to audiences from the musical comedy stage.

Now, teamed once more with Bessie Love with whom he made his talking debut, he is singing tender ballads in "Chasing Rainbows."

Saturday, March 29

The wide expanse of the west that was, provides the picturesque locale for "Romance of Rio Grande," the feature all talking Fox Movietone picture with Warner Baxter, Mary Duncan and Antonio Moreno, announced for the attraction at the Paramount on Saturday only, March 29.

Massive scenes of the Rio Grande region, plains dotted with enormous herds of cattle, and the rare grandeur of the old Mexican estates, give pictorial testimony to the gigantic scale on which Fox Films staged this compelling romantic picture of the west, which is an Alfred Santell directorial effort.

Brightened with the dialect the picture version is said to be the most engaging western drama to appear since the advent of the talkies.

GOING TO COLLEGE FOR SOCIAL ADVANCEMENT

Minneapolis, Minn., March 21.—(UP)—The idea of going to college for social advancement does not work to the mental advantage of the student, Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, 31-year-old president of Chicago university, told 250 graduates at University of Minnesota spring commencement exercises yesterday.

"If a sufficient degree of mental status is obtained by the normal person," Dr. Hutchins said, "social advancement will take care of itself. Both college students and their parents must understand this to obtain the full benefits from America's vast educational machine."

Dr. Hutchins, the youngest president ever appointed to a major United States university, said he is making a study of the attitudes and methods of teaching students in American universities.

The commencement exercises were held in Cyrus Northrup Memorial auditorium at 11 a. m.

Arrangements have been made by the Young People's Church Federation of Brainerd, of which Miss Florence Swanson is president. Tracy stated "I had the pleasure of hearing 'Dad' Waite speak several years ago. He is a man with an unusually pleasing personality, a fluent speaker and able to bring across wonderful messages. He is a man once heard, always remembered, and is worth traveling around the globe to hear."

Mrs. A. G. Patterson, in speaking of Rev. Waite, said, "He is a man who has put heart and soul into his work. His work is with the young people and he is especially interested in the young men. In speaking he is simplicity itself, yet his talks are forceful and he makes a wonderful appeal to all, and as he speaks he draws his audience to him."

Other speakers on the program will be H. L. Stright of St. Paul, general secretary of the Minnesota Council of Religious Education; Miss Jennie Doidge who is the Young People's Superintendent of Ramsey County Sunday School Association of St. Paul; William George, president of the State Young People's Council. Rev. Homer Armstrong, pastor of the Baptist Disciples Christ church at Duluth will also be one of the speakers. On Friday he will lead the discussion group on the subject: "Why the Church."

The theme of the conference will be "Pilots of the Upper Air."

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

March 21, 1905

Manager M. J. Reilly of the St. Cloud-Brainerd team left this afternoon for St. Paul where he expects to meet A. C. White who is a candidate for the position of playing manager of the team. White is highly recommended and it is not unlikely that a deal will be closed with him. It is understood that Mike Skanter of St. Cloud who played in the copper country last year, will be signed and that Pat Bovle of this city will be in uniform. Both boys are well known and it is the belief that they will make good.

C. M. Andrews of Northeast Brainerd is certainly pursued by a demon of hard luck. Mrs. Andrews was sick all last summer and last fall Mr. Andrews had his chest crushed while at work in the planing mill at the shops and has not been able to do a stroke of work since. The shop boys raised $80 for him and his family a few months ago and entrusted it to one of their number to deliver. He in turn entrusted it to his wife who skipped with it, so Mr. Andrews was deprived of that help. Then to cap all his house caught fire last night when the family was out and was completely gutted. There was only a very small insurance.

Work commenced today on the new creamery which will be erected on the vacant lots east of the O'Brien Mercantile Company store on Laurel. B. R. Armstrong, who will run the creamery, is here and will supervise the work to a large extent.

Mrs. W. H. Sadler and son Will left this noon for Brookhaven, Miss., where Mr. Sadler has been the past few months as sawyer in a big mill. Many friends in the city regret to see the family leave Brainerd.

W. H. Cleary left this afternoon for Aitkin on business.

Toasted Coffee Gives Home Economics Delicious New Recipes

Home Economics Authority Advises Housewives How To Prepare Delicious New Dishes Made Possible By Additional Flavor Given By Nash's Process Of Toasting Coffee

"I HAVE always felt that the flavor of coffee was never utilized to its full extent," said Esther Moran, Home Economics Authority, in a recent interview.

"Coffee is perhaps the most popular flavor in the world. All coffee is bought for flavor alone. Coffee is the favorite flavor of the people of this country, because coffee is the favorite American beverage. There is something about the flavor of good old-fashioned coffee—that something which causes us to hurry downstairs in the morning when the aroma of fresh coffee reaches us—that has made an indelible impression upon everyone. There is no flavoring so delicious, so tempting, so popular, as coffee.

"While its use as a beverage is almost universal, coffee as a flavoring for other foods has never been fully appreciated. Coffee has many uses besides as a beverage.

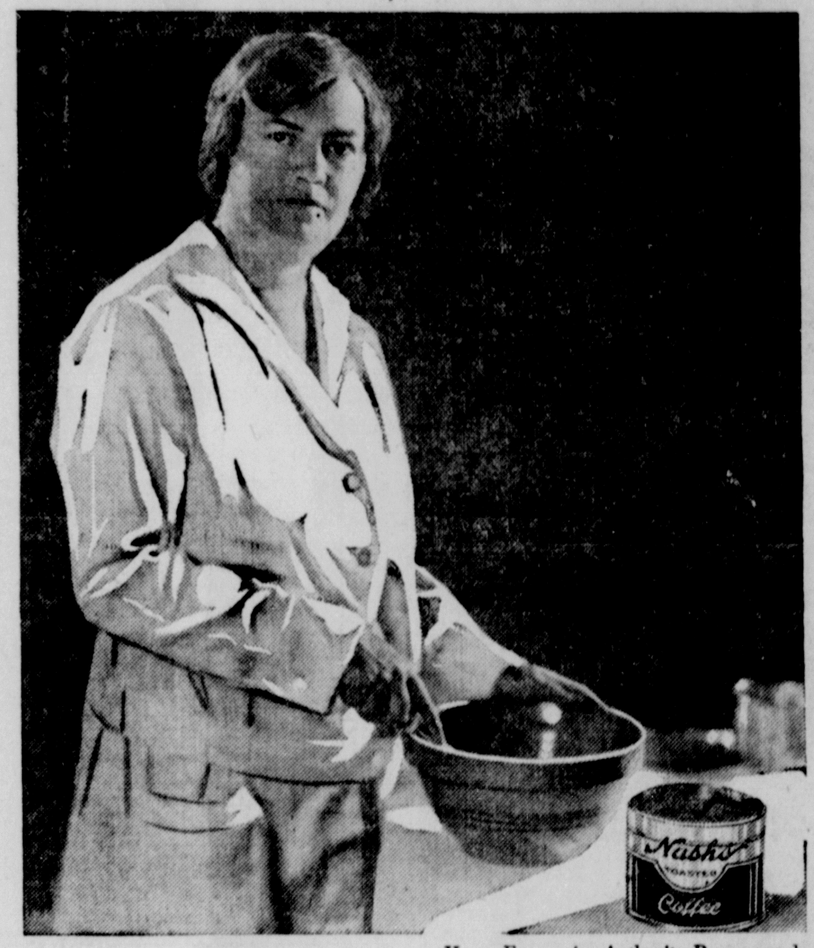

"This is especially true since the discovery of Nash's process of toasting, rather than roasting, the coffee berry. When I read the report of the Van Cleve Laboratories, proving that Nash's process of toasting coffee develops 35.7% more flavor than possible by old-fashioned roasting, I took a renewed interest in coffee as a flavoring for foods, and began experimenting with Nash's Toasted Coffee in new recipes.

"I found, as I expected, that the richer, deeper flavor which Nash's Toasted Coffee possesses, enabled me to create tempting new dishes—cakes, pies and puddings—in which the coffee flavor not only added to its own deliciousness, but also enhanced and brought out the other flavors as well.

"Because Nash's Toasted Coffee possesses more true coffee flavor, the infusion for flavoring purposes is richer and deeper than any I had used before. The marvelous flavor which we find in a cup of Nash's Toasted Coffee we also find in the food in which it is used as a flavoring.

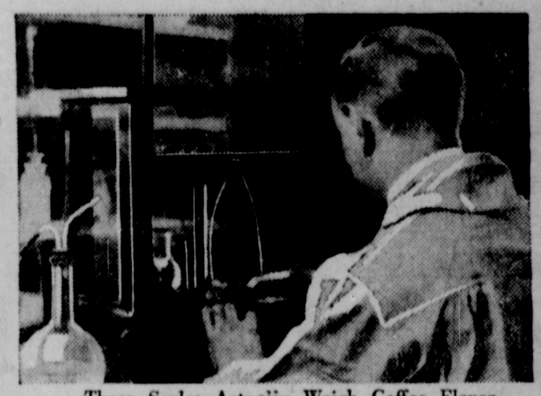

"In these recipes I have evolved dishes which offer the housewife the opportunity of serving some new, tempting dish to add variety to her menus—to please her friends and family—to be known as a good cook who always has some delicious new dish to serve.

"The recipes are simple. Any housewife with ordinary skill can bake one of these cakes or pies with no more effort, bother or danger of failure than in baking her everyday 'standbys.' I would caution only one thing—be sure to use Nash's Toasted Coffee, because only in coffee toasted by the new Nash process is there that particular richness of flavor which is necessary to these recipes."

Home Economics Authority Recommends Using Coffee as Flavoring in Cakes and Desserts

Esther Moran, ex-president of the Minnesota State Home Economics Association, lecturer, writer, and recognized home economics authority, demonstrating the simplicity of her new recipes in which she uses Nash's Toasted Coffee as the flavoring.

These Scales Actually Weigh Coffee Flavor

These finely tuned scales, which will weigh a grain of dust, are shown weighing the flavor content of coffee toasted by the new Nash process and the same coffee roasted by old-fashioned methods.

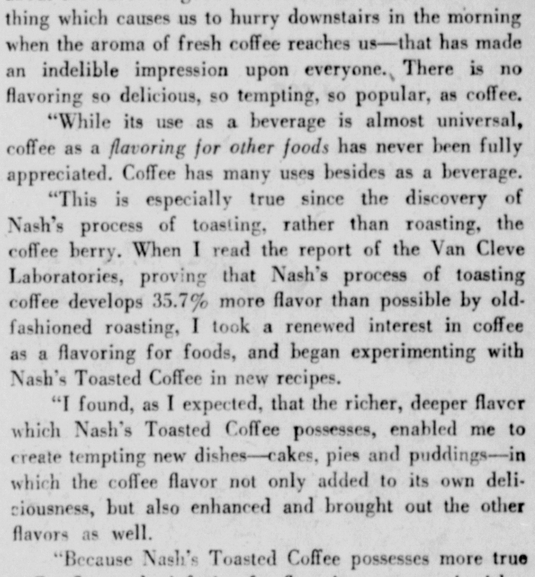

The flavor-producing element in coffee is an aromatic oil known as caffeol. The Van Cleve Laboratories extracted this oil from Nash's Toasted Coffee and from the same coffee developed by old-fashioned roasting and then weighed and compared the oils. The scale showed that coffee toasted by the new Nash process developed 35.7% more flavor than the same coffee when roasted.

Coffee Tapioca Pudding

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1½ c. rich milk | ¼ c. tapioca | Whites 2 eggs |
| ½ c. Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion | ⅓ c. sugar | 1 tsp. vanilla |
| | Yolks of 2 eggs | Few grains salt |

Cook milk, Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion and tapioca in double boiler until tapioca is transparent. Beat yolks of eggs slightly, add sugar and pour hot tapioca into this. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened, cool, add vanilla and salt to taste. Serve with plain or whipped cream or cover with a meringue.

(To the right) Not from one district—but from all over the world—come the choice coffees for toasting by the new Nash process. Climatic conditions vary, and an unfavorable season affects the coffee grown in that season. One crop from a certain district may be very fine; the next picking may be poor. For this reason the Nash Coffee Company selects its coffee from all high quality coffee growing districts of the world.

Miss Moran advises housewives to utilize their left-over coffee in their baking. Left-over coffee may be used for all liquid in any butter cake, water sponge cake, muffins, cookies, steamed puddings and gelatin deserts. Besides being an economy, the use of coffee for liquid in these foods gives a delightful variation to the usual flavor.

Make This Delicious Cake—Here Is the Simple Recipe

| | |
|---|---|
| 2 sqs. bitter chocolate | ½ c. butter (scant) |
| ½ c. brown sugar | 1 c. sugar |
| ½ c. Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion | 2 eggs |
| 1¾ c. pastry flour | ½ c. Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion |
| | ¾ tsp. soda |

Cook chocolate, brown sugar and one-half cup Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion until smooth and creamy. Cool. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and beat until cream colored. Beat yolks of eggs until light colored and stiff, add to creamed mixture and continue beating. Add cooked mixture. Sift flour and soda, then add coffee and flour alternately. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Bake in two layers at 350° F. about twenty-five minutes. Frost with fudge icing.

Nash's Toasted Coffee Now Available from Your Grocer

Nash's Toasted Coffee is the only coffee toasted by the new process, and may now be obtained from your grocer. While the Nash process of toasting develops 35.7% more flavor, your grocer sells Nash's Toasted Coffee at a price no higher than that of ordinary roasted coffee. You are always certain of receiving intact the full measure of increased flavor in Nash's Toasted Coffee, because it is sealed in vacuum immediately after toasting.

From the Daily Dispatch

Manager M. J. Reilly of the St. Cloud-Brainerd team left this afternoon for St. Paul where he expects to meet A. C. White who is a candidate for the position of playing manager of the team. White is highly recommended and it is not unlikely that a deal will be closed with him. It is understood that Mike Skanter of St. Cloud who played in the copper country last year, will be signed and that Pat Bovle of this city will be in uniform. Both boys are well known and it is the belief that they will make good.

C. M. Andrews of Northeast Brainerd is certainly pursued by a demon of hard luck. Mrs. Andrews was sick all last summer and last fall Mr. Andrews had his chest crushed while at work in the planing mill at the shops and has not been able to do a stroke of work since. The shop boys raised $80 for him and his family a few months ago and entrusted it to one of their number to deliver. He in turn entrusted it to his wife who skipped with it, so Mr. Andrews was deprived of that help. Then to cap all his house caught fire last night when the family was out and was completely gutted. There was only a very small insurance.

Work commenced today on the new creamery which will be erected on the vacant lots east of the O'Brien Mercantile Company store on Laurel. B. R. Armstrong, who will run the creamery, is here and will supervise the work to a large extent.

Mrs. W. H. Sadler and son Will left this noon for Brookhaven, Miss., where Mr. Sadler has been the past few months as sawyer in a big mill. Many friends in the city regret to see the family leave Brainerd.

Frank Sykora left this afternoon for Staples for a band rehearsal.

W. H. Cleary left this afternoon for Aitkin on business.

Toasted Coffee Gives Home Economics Delicious New Recipes

Home Economics Authority Advises Housewives How To Prepare Delicious New Dishes Made Possible By Additional Flavor Given By Nash's Process Of Toasting Coffee

"I HAVE always felt that the flavor of coffee was never utilized to its full extent," said Esther Moran, Home Economics Authority, in a recent interview.

"Coffee is perhaps the most popular flavor in the world. All coffee is bought for flavor alone. Coffee is the favorite flavor of the people of this country, because coffee is the favorite American beverage. There is something about the flavor of good old-fashioned coffee—that something which causes us to hurry downstairs in the morning when the aroma of fresh coffee reaches us—that has made an indelible impression upon everyone. There is no flavoring so delicious, so tempting, so popular, as coffee.

"While its use as a beverage is almost universal, coffee as a flavoring for other foods has never been fully appreciated. Coffee has many uses besides as a beverage.

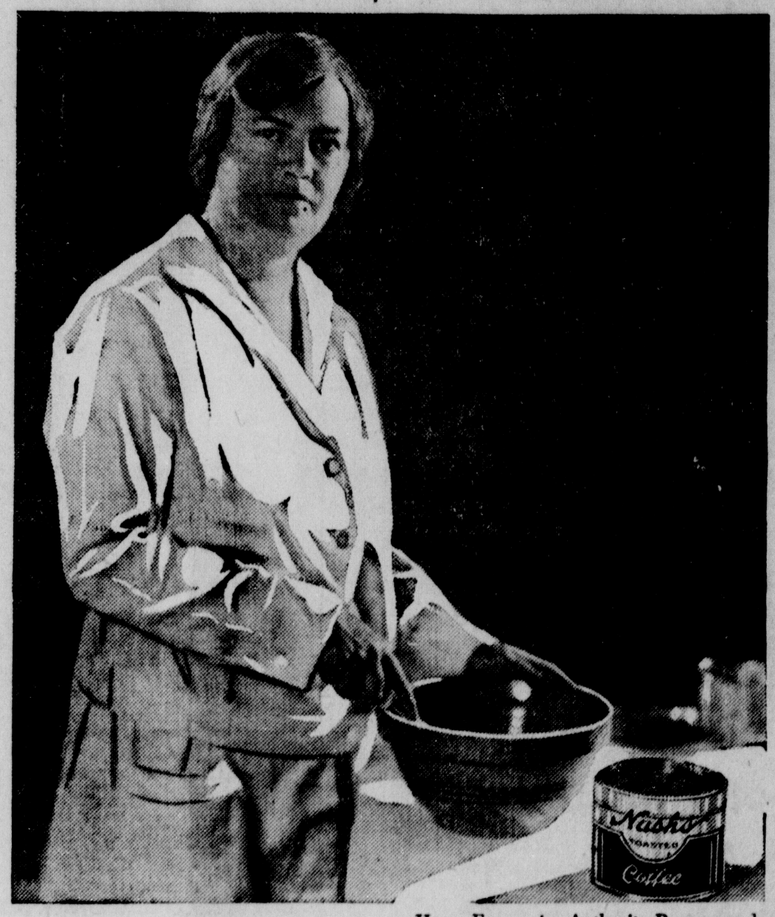

"This is especially true since the discovery of Nash's process of toasting, rather than roasting, the coffee berry. When I read the report of the Van Cleve Laboratories, proving that Nash's process of toasting coffee develops 35.7% more flavor than possible by old-fashioned roasting, I took a renewed interest in coffee as a flavoring for foods, and began experimenting with Nash's Toasted Coffee in new recipes.

"I found, as I expected, that the richer, deeper flavor which Nash's Toasted Coffee possesses, enabled me to create tempting new dishes—cakes, pies and puddings—in which the coffee flavor not only added to its own deliciousness, but also enhanced and brought out the other flavors as well.

"Because Nash's Toasted Coffee possesses more true coffee flavor, the infusion for flavoring purposes is richer and deeper than any I had used before. The marvelous flavor which we find in a cup of Nash's Toasted Coffee we also find in the food in which it is used as a flavoring.

"In these recipes I have evolved dishes which offer the housewife the opportunity of serving some new, tempting dish to add variety to her menus—to please her friends and family—to be known as a good cook who always has some delicious new dish to serve.

"The recipes are simple. Any housewife with ordinary skill can bake one of these cakes or pies with no more effort, bother or danger of failure than in baking her everyday 'standbys.' I would caution only one thing—be sure to use Nash's Toasted Coffee, because only in coffee toasted by the new Nash process is there that particular richness of flavor which is necessary to these recipes."

Home Economics Authority Recommends Using Coffee as Flavoring in Cakes and Desserts

Esther Moran, ex-president of the Minnesota State Home Economics Association, lecturer, writer, and recognized home economics authority, demonstrating the simplicity of her new recipes in which she uses Nash's Toasted Coffee as the flavoring.

These Scales Actually Weigh Coffee Flavor

These finely tuned scales, which will weigh a grain of dust, are shown weighing the flavor content of coffee toasted by the new Nash process and the same coffee roasted by old-fashioned methods.

The flavor-producing element in coffee is an aromatic oil known as caffeol. The Van Cleve Laboratories extracted this oil from Nash's Toasted Coffee and from the same coffee developed by old-fashioned roasting and then weighed and compared the oils. The scale showed that coffee toasted by the new Nash process developed 35.7% more flavor than the same coffee when roasted.

Coffee Tapioca Pudding

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1½ c. rich milk | ¼ c. tapioca | Whites 2 eggs |
| ½ c. Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion | ⅓ c. sugar | 1 tsp. vanilla |
| | Yolks of 2 eggs | Few grains salt |

Cook milk, Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion and tapioca in double boiler until tapioca is transparent. Beat yolks of eggs slightly, add sugar and pour hot tapioca into this. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened, cool, add vanilla and salt to taste. Serve with plain or whipped cream or cover with a meringue.

Miss Moran advises housewives to utilize their left-over coffee in their baking. Left-over coffee may be used for all liquid in any butter cake, water sponge cake, muffins, cookies, steamed puddings and gelatin deserts. Besides being an economy, the use of coffee for liquid in these foods gives a delightful variation to the usual flavor.

(Above) Mr. L. K. Watrous, chief coffee expert, Nash Coffee Company, at the "cupping wheel" where coffee tasters cup test coffees. Mr. Watrous' process of toasting, rather than roasting, the coffee berry, is applied exclusively to Nash's Toasted Coffee.

(To the right) Not from one district—but from all over the world—come the choice coffees for toasting by the new Nash process. Climatic conditions vary, and an unfavorable season affects the coffee grown in that season. One crop from a certain district may be very fine; the next picking may be poor. For this reason the Nash Coffee Company selects its coffee from all high quality coffee growing districts of the world.

| | |
|---|---|
| 2 sqs. bitter chocolate | ½ c. butter (scant) |
| ½ c. brown sugar | 1 c. sugar |
| ½ c. Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion | 2 eggs |
| 1¾ c. pastry flour | ½ c. Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion |
| | ¾ tsp. soda |

Cook chocolate, brown sugar and one-half cup Nash's Toasted Coffee infusion until smooth and creamy. Cool. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and beat until cream colored. Beat yolks of eggs until light colored and stiff, add to creamed mixture and continue heating. Add cooked mixture. Sift flour and soda, then add coffee and flour alternately. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Bake in two layers at 350° F. about twenty-five minutes. Frost with fudge icing.

Nash's Toasted Coffee Now Available from Your Grocer

Nash's Toasted Coffee is the only coffee toasted by the new process, and may now be obtained from your grocer. While the Nash process of toasting develops 35.7% more flavor, your grocer sells Nash's Toasted Coffee at a price no higher than that of ordinary roasted coffee. You are always certain of receiving intact the full measure of increased flavor in Nash's Toasted Coffee, because it is sealed in vacuum immediately after toasting.

BRAINERD CREDIT BUREAU MEETING

First Spring Supper Gathering at the Ransford Hotel on Thursday Evening

H. P. DUNN TOASTMASTER

Speakers are County Attorney A. J. Sullivan and F. W. Funk of Minneapolis

Speakers at the first spring supper meeting of the Brainerd Credit Bureau at the Ransford Hotel Thursday evening were County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan and F. W. Funk, Minneapolis, credit manager of E. E. Atkinson & Co.

After the luncheon was served President Wm. Nelson of the Brainerd Credit Bureau introduced H. P. Dunn, toastmaster of the evening.

County Attorney Sullivan spoke on legal points regarding credit. "Competition is so keen these days," said the speaker, "the rush for business so great, that business men should know many legal points necessary in the transaction of business."

He spoke of the liability of husband and wife, the husband's responsibility for necessaries sold the wife and when conditions alter this relation. Necessaries constitute not only food and apparel, but ornaments and utilities corresponding to the station of life occupied by the husband.

He explained the relation of parent and child, the liability of a minor or infant, the statute of limitations, how court actions are started by complaint and summons, how judgments are entered, sheriff levies, exemptions, replevin actions, garnishments, laws relating to checks and banking practices. He was thanked by the toastmaster for his comprehensive address.

F. W. Funk took as his subject, "Co-operation among Credit Grantors." "It is the duty of the credit bureau and the local credit association to teach the full meaning of cooperation in credit granting," said Mr. Funk. The speaker added: "That is the reason for the existence of local bureaus, local credit associations, regional credit organizations and our National Retail Credit Association. Your local bureau may furnish you with a complete detailed report, an ideal report, but if you do not use it you are not taking advantage of your opportunity.

"Experience has shown that an applicant for credit always puts his or her best foot forward and is very careful not to give any information which may be derogatory. The only safe play is to get a full and complete report from your bureau for, while it is conceded that 99 per cent of the people are honest, statistics show that taking the United States as a whole only about 50 per cent are prompt in paying their obligations. After you have received your report, analyze it, make your decision and have the backbone to abide by it.

"But the bureau is unable to give you this information unless you are willing to lay your cards on the table and give that organization your full experience, unbiased, on the applicant inquired about. It is to the advantage of all that all the information should be compiled in one place and that there should be no feeling of mistrust.

"For the average business man, attuned to the competitive tempo of the age, it has been difficult to grasp the idea that his strongest competitor should be his closest ally in credit work. Because of his unfamiliarity with the credit field, he has not appreciated the potency of credit ethics, which makes possible the frankest sort of co-operation between the credit departments of competing firms. One of the difficult problems of credit granting will have been solved when it is generally understood by our captains of industry that while the success of a sales department may depend on its ability to compete, the success of a proper granting of credit depends on the ability to co-operate.

"There is very little room for argument that there is need for improvement of credit conditions including the raising of collection recovery percentages throughout the country. As stated previously, it is conceded that 99 per cent of the people are honest, but only about 50 per cent are prompt in the payment of their obligations. The habitually slow pays and delinquents are a thorn in the credit scheme and the eternal problem of merchant and credit man alike. Here again co-operation steps in and makes it possible to improve conditions. Have the backbone to adhere to the established terms agreed to by your local association. The buying public can be educated to the value of paying bills promptly, because they can be taught how it will result to their own advantage."

Mr. Dunn thanked Mr. Funk for his fine address, and then turned the gavel over to President Nelson.

Con O'Brien spoke about phases of the credit situation. Attorney W. W. Bane referred to the custom of the railway company to discharge a man if he had been garnisheed three times. On motion this was referred to the directors to see if the company rule cannot be changed.

On suggestion of the secretary, G. P. McCabe, the next so-called stockholders' meeting will be held on or about May 22.

Hard-Boiled Eggs Safe Food for Baby Chicks

It is common practice to feed the infertile eggs tested out from the incubator to baby chicks. In so doing it incurs the danger of infecting the chicks with pullorum disease (formerly called bacillary white diarrhea). Where eggs form a part of the chick's diet they should be boiled for at least five minutes and preferably longer. This boiling will destroy the germ of the dreaded chick disease, and then it is a perfectly safe and good practice to feed the boiled eggs to baby chicks. One should not run the risk of infecting the brood by feeding the raw eggs.

Feed for Poults

Little turkeys should not be fed for the first day or two, as they are absorbing the yolk of the egg from which they came and this is what nature intended that they should get. After two days they may be fed chopped hard-boiled egg and corn bread crumbs for the first week, or soaked stale bread in milk and squeezed dry. When they begin to get out on the range, they may be fed morning and night only, as they get much from the range.

Young Duck Ration

A widely recommended ration that has been extensively used by duck raisers, is as follows: As a starting ration a mash made up of equal parts of rolled oats and dried bread is fed. It is found desirable to add a small quantity of sand, one part to twenty parts of the mash, and moistened. As much as the ducks will clean up readily is fed five or six times daily. After the ducks are six days old equal parts of bran, yellow corn meal, rolled oats and dry bread can be fed.

Geese Mate in Pairs

Geese generally mate in pairs, though a young gander will sometimes mate with more than one goose. Later he will usually pick a favorite. When mature the easiest way to tell a gander is to listen to the voice. A gander has a voice which is a cross between a whistle and whisper. A young male hatched in June has an excellent chance, but if he is kept in a pen with a lot of other birds of different ages he probably will not be ready by February.

Splendid Royal Show

The Field of the Cloth of Gold was the name given to the meeting place of Henry VIII of England and Francis I of France, near Ardres, France, in 1520, on account of the gorgeous apparel of the participants and the splendor of the pageantry that took place.

"It is the duty of the credit bureau and the local credit association to teach the full meaning of cooperation in credit granting," said Mr. Funk. The speaker added: "That is the reason for the existence of local bureaus, local credit associations, regional credit organizations and our National Retail Credit Association. Your local bureau may furnish you with a complete detailed report, an ideal report, but if you do not use it you are not taking advantage of your opportunity.

"Experience has shown that an applicant for credit always puts his or her best foot forward and is very careful not to give any information which may be derogatory. The only safe play is to get a full and complete report from your bureau for, while it is conceded that 99 per cent of the people are honest, statistics show that taking the United States as a whole only about 50 per cent are prompt in paying their obligations. After you have received your report, analyze it, make your decision and have the backbone to abide by it.

"But the bureau is unable to give you this information unless you are willing to lay your cards on the table and give that organization your full experience, unbiased, on the applicant inquired about. It is to the advantage of all that all the information should be compiled in one place and that there should be no feeling of mistrust.

"For the average business man, attuned to the competitive tempo of the age, it has been difficult to grasp the idea that his strongest competitor should be his closest ally in credit work. Because of his unfamiliarity with the credit field, he has not appreciated the potency of credit ethics, which makes possible the frankest sort of co-operation between the credit departments of competing firms. One of the difficult problems of credit granting will have been solved when it is generally understood by our captains of industry that while the success of a sales department may depend on its ability to compete, the success of a proper granting of credit depends on the ability to co-operate.

"There is very little room for argument that there is need for improvement of credit conditions including the raising of collection recovery percentages throughout the country. As stated previously, it is conceded that 99 per cent of the people are honest, but only about 50 per cent are prompt in the payment of their obligations. The habitually slow pays and delinquents are a thorn in the credit scheme and the eternal problem of merchant and credit man alike. Here again co-operation steps in and makes it possible to improve conditions. Have the backbone to adhere to the established terms agreed to by your local association. The buying public can be educated to the value of paying bills promptly, because they can be taught how it will result to their own advantage."

Mr. Dunn thanked Mr. Funk for his fine address, and then turned the gavel over to President Nelson.

Con O'Brien spoke about phases of the credit situation. Attorney W. W. Bane referred to the custom of the railway company to discharge a man if he had been garnisheed three times. On motion this was referred to the directors to see if the company rule cannot be changed.

On suggestion of the secretary, G. P. McCabe, the next so-called stockholders' meeting will be held on or about May 22.

Hard-Boiled Eggs Safe Food for Baby Chicks

It is common practice to feed the infertile eggs tested out from the incubator to baby chicks. In so doing it incurs the danger of infecting the chicks with pullorum disease (formerly called bacillary white diarrhea). Where eggs form a part of the chick's diet they should be boiled for at least five minutes and preferably longer. This boiling will destroy the germ of the dreaded chick disease, and then it is a perfectly safe and good practice to feed the boiled eggs to baby chicks. One should not run the risk of infecting the brood by feeding the raw eggs.

Feed for Poults

Little turkeys should not be fed for the first day or two, as they are absorbing the yolk of the egg from which they came and this is what nature intended that they should get. After two days they may be fed chopped hard-boiled egg and corn bread crumbs for the first week, or soaked stale bread in milk and squeezed dry. When they begin to get get out on the range, they may be fed morning and night only, as they get much from the range.

Young Duck Ration

A widely recommended ration that has been extensively used by duck raisers, is as follows: As a starting ration a mash made up of equal parts of rolled oats and dried bread is fed. It is found desirable to add a small quantity of sand, one part to twenty parts of the mash, and moistened. As much as the ducks will clean up readily is fed five or six times daily. After the ducks are six days old equal parts of bran, yellow corn meal, rolled oats and dry bread can be fed.

Geese Mate in Pairs

Geese generally mate in pairs, though a young gander will sometimes mate with more than one goose. Later he will usually pick a favorite. When mature the easiest way to tell a gander is to listen to the voice. A gander has a voice which is a cross between a whistle and whisper. A young male hatched in June has an excellent chance, but if he is kept in a pen with a lot of other birds of different ages he probably will not be ready by February.

Splendid Royal Show

The Field of the Cloth of Gold was the name given to the meeting place of Henry VIII of England and Francis I of France, near Ardres, France, in 1520, on account of the gorgeous apparel of the participants and the splendor of the pageantry that took place.

Poultry Hints

Kill all weak and undersized chicks at the start.

* * *

When goose eggs are to be kept a while they should not be washed.

* * *

Depth and width of body are characteristic of good breeding stock.

* * *

Oyster shell, sunshine and green feed are all necessary for high hatchability.

* * *

Give baby goslings water from the start but do not let them get their bodies in it or trample in it.

* * *

Good breeding stock is the foundation of success. The combination of heavy egg production and beauty is the ideal toward which we should strive.

* * *

Remember that your success in producing hatchable eggs depends on the vigor and vitality of the breeding stock, complete rations containing vitamines and minerals, and the proper care of eggs before setting.

* * *

Green feed, dandelions, young clover or alfalfa or even lawn clippings should be provided after the ducks are a week old.

* * *

As in the case of insufficient vitamine D, the egg shells become much thinner, which increases the chances of loss by breaking.

* * *

Select your breeding pen or pens from among your high producers, preferably from hens only, thus securing longevity (continued high production), as well as stamina.

GARBO TALKS IN "ANNA CHRISTIE"

Saturday Midnight Show to Herald Three Day Run at Paramount Theatre

A preshowing of "Anna Christie," Greta Garbo's first all talking role will take place at the midnight show at the Paramount theatre Saturday evening starting at 11:15 o'clock to herald the three day run starting Monday.

The picture has been hailed as the outstanding performance of Greta Garbo's career. Her voice is low-pitched, husky, delightfully modulated with a remarkable dramatic intonation.

"Anna Christie" recently played an extended engagement at the Century theatre Minneapolis at 75 cents. There will be no advance in prices in the showings here.

The cast follows:
Anna—Greta Garbo.
Matt—Charles Bickford.
Chris—George F. Marion.
Martha—Marie Dressler.
Johnny, The Priest—James T. Mack.
Larry—Lee Phelps.

Pioneer Woman Suffragist

Susan B. Anthony became a leader in the woman suffrage movement in 1868, but it was not until 1872 that she made the test by voting at the polls. She was arrested and fined but was not jailed for refusing to pay her fine.

Scene from "Romance of Rio Grande" showing at the Paramount Saturday, March 29

Moral Conveyed by Winter

The simplicity of winter has a deep moral. The return of nature, after such a career of splendor and prodigality, to habits so simple and austere, is not lost upon either the head or the heart.—Burroughs, in "Touches of Nature."

Vowels in Geography

A is a town in Sweden; I is an island of Japan; O is a village in Normandy; U is a city in China; Y is a river by Amsterdam. Aa is a river in Holland and Belgium; Eu is a town in Normandy; Oa is a cape in Scotland.—Exchange.

NEWSPAPERMEN PUT ON BURLESQUE FOR COL. LINDBERGH

Del Monte, Calif., March 21.—(U.P.)—His sleep cut short by thorough enjoyment of a skit produced by newspapermen to show how difficult it sometimes is to "cover" his activities, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hurried his packing today preparatory to departure for San Francisco.

Lindbergh seemed more at ease in the presence of newspapermen than at any time in recent months when they put on the burlesque on "Interviewing Lindbergh" in his presence.

The scribes were celebrating the end of a tenseness that had gripped them for several weeks while Col. Lindbergh has been engaged in more or less hazardous glider flights near here. He failed to make the distance flight he had hoped to complete because of adverse weather conditions and poor winds.

Presidential Powers

Section 1 of Article 1 of the Constitution states that "all legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives." The President's power over lawmaking is in suggesting laws to congress and in approving or vetoing laws that have passed.

Early Envelopes

Envelopes were cut and gummed by hand until 1844, when a machine for making them was patented in England. In America the first patent for a similar machine was granted in 1849.

NEARLY 1,000 PERSONS IN RIOT

HALF NEGRO AND HALF WHITE ROW IN CHICAGO OVER MIXED RACE BASKETBALL GAME

Chicago, March 21.—(U.P.)—Nearly 1,000 persons, approximately half negroes and half whites, rioted for nearly an hour near the University of Chicago campus last night over the result of a basketball game at the University gymnasium in which a team from a white high school defeated one from a negro institution.

Police squads from four stations, numbering 100 men battled with the rioters until they were subdued. A score of heads were battered and seven street cars had been commandeered by the crowd before police arrived.

The trouble started when negro fans who had backed the Wndell Phillips high team became involved in an argument with Calumet high school fans over the referee's decisions. Calumet had won the game 25 to 22.

British Leader Calls Arms Meet Failure

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was advised by Commander J. M. Kenworthy, prominent member of the Labor Party, in the House of Commons, "to close up" the London Naval Conference. Kenworthy said the conference is a terrible failure and that it would be better to close up indefinitely.

OWNS FIRST PHONE SETS TO BE USED

E. L. Guin Comes in Possession of Them From Father; Originally Used in Iowa

E. L. Guin, proprietor of "Dreamland Resort" on Crooked Lake, has among his prized possession a pair of the telephone sets among the first in use in the country.

The sets are unusual looking and were brought by Mr. Guin's father, J. W. Guin from Strawberry Point, Clayton county, Ia., and used by him there in the early years of 1880.

E. L. Guin used the large shaped disc affairs to converse with members of his household from the store he operated in Crow Wing as early as 1902. Speech was produced by talking loudly into the mouthpiece which was also used as a receiver. Loud taps on the mouthpiece were employed in place of the ring of the present day bell.

Mr. Guin removed from Crow Wing in 1926. The novel telephone apparatus is now on display in the office of L. B. Kinder, judge of probate.

Silly Old Superstition

One of the most persistent ideas during ancient and medieval times, was that jewels had sex. Dark-colored stones were supposed to be male and the lighter ones female. Under proper conditions they were said to reproduce, and in the Middle ages everybody had a cousin who had a friend who had actually encountered the phenomenon.

Feeding Young Chicks After the First Month

Most people feed their chicks well for the first month when the little chicks need careful attention in the brooder or with hens, but after they get older and do not need to be watched closely, many lose interest in or at least allow the chicks to rustle for themselves. This common mistake is hard to overcome for it is natural for one to become more careless with the chicks after they have a good start in life. Chicks are not so apt to die as before, but they are still apt to become runts and therefore unprofitable.

Chicks should have access to a well balanced ration throughout their life. Pullets that are matured are the ones that lay during the fall and winter when eggs are high in price. It takes proper rations, plus early hatched chicks, to raise this type of pullets.

WORKS ONE WEEK GETS $10 RAISE

Elinor Smith is the holder of three world's flying records—and she is only eighteen. In a few days she is going to take tests for a commercial pilot's license and when she passes she will be qualified to compete with men in every branch of aviation. She was only eight years old when she took her first air ride, and made her first solo flight four years ago. On January 13, 1929 she stayed in the air over Roosevelt Field, L. I., thirteen hours. April, 1929 she set an endurance mark of 26 hours, 21 minutes and 32 secords. Within a few days the records will credit to Miss Smith an altitude record of around five miles. The barograph which she carried to something between 30,000 and 32,000 feet is being celebrated.

HIS LIFE SAVED BY FAILING COURAGE

EAU CLARIE, WIS., MAN UNABLE TO CARRY OUT HUSBAND AND WIFE SUICIDE PACT

Eau Claire, Wis., March 21.—(U.P.)—Oliver Chatterton, shoe store manager, was in a serious condition in a hospital today, his life saved by his failing courage and by the flip of a coin that delayed execution of a husband and wife suicide pact.

Chatterton told police he had agreed to shoot his wife and then commit suicide, but his courage failed and in dispair he tried to kill himself first. He wounded himself seriously in the head.

The couple said they rented an automobile and drove to Big Falls, 12 miles away, where they planned to end their lives. Once there they decided to flip a coin to determine whether they might have an hour's respite.

When the hour was up, Chatterton said he could not shoot his wife, but turned the gun on himself. Frightened at her husband's condition, Mrs. Chatterton forced him to walk three miles to a farm house where she called a physician.

Police said they found two notes concealed in the couple's clothing. One read "dear mother and all, forgive us but this is the only way out."

The other note was believed to refer to Chatterton's relations with other women. "I've been a cheat," it read. "Now I'm going to pay up."

Physicians said Chatterton would recover.

NUMEROUS CHANGES IN ROAD CONDITIONS

Numerous changes in road conditions are shown in the weekly bulletin issued by the State Highway department today. Many routes have improved since last week, while some rootes are not so good. The majority of the trunk routes, however, are fair to good.

Motorists are urged to watch weather reports before undertaking long trips. Warm weather and rapid thawing will likely bring out a number of "frost boils" on the unpaved routes, while rain or snow might quickly cause some of the roads to become impassable.

Load restrictions are in effect on several routes, and more may be added as conditions require. Reports on trunk roads in the Brainerd Lake Region follow:

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—260 miles—Duluth, paved—Carlton, goor, poor in spots—Tamarack, good—Aitkin, good, fair—Brainerd, good—Hawley, paved—Moorhead.

T. H. No. 18—Elk River, Milaca, and Brainerd—103 miles—Elk River, good—Princeton, good—(2½ tons)—Milaca, good—Brainerd.

T. H. No. 19—Brainerd, Walker and Cass Lake—93 miles—Brainerd, good—Pine River, poor, good—Walker, fair—Cass Lake.

T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—62 miles—Paved.

The Greatest Wish

What a man most wishes is to be lifted to some higher platform, that he may see beyond his present fear the Trans-Alpine good, so that his fear, his coldness, his custom may be broken up like fragments of ice, melted and carried away in the great stream of good will.—Emerson.

HAWKS TO MAKE GLIDER TOWING TRIP

Washington, March 21.—(U.P.)—Capt. Frank H. Hawks, present holder of the non-stop transcontinental flight record, has been granted special authorization by the commerce department, it was learned here today, to make a glider towing trip. Hawks plans to be towed by plane from California to New York next month.

Special government authorization was necessary under a ruling adopted last fall.

Hawks was enroute to San Diego, Calif., it was learned today. He plans to leave there in time to arrive in New York for the glider exposition on Long Island April 25-26. The trip is expected to take four or five days.

Fire Destroys Entire Village in Roumania

Bucharest, Roumania, March 21.—Fire destroyed the entire village of Slobozia, near Jassy today. Eight children were burned to death when their homes were destroyed.

The fire lasted baout two hours.

The peasant residents were panic-stricken when the flames began spreading and some of them ran from the town in such confusion that they forgot the chlidren had been left in the houses.

Must Be Constantly Fed

Admiration is a short-lived passion, that immediately decays upon growing familiar with its object, unless it be still fed with fresh discoveries.—Addison.

More Birds

On islands in the South seas ornithologists bagged a ground dove, a sand piper and a species of paradise bird which sea captains of the old sailing days used to spin yarns about, but which have not been seen for the last hundred years, and which were supposedly extinct. Like dreams, old yarns sometimes come true.

Maine Holds Fog Record

The maximum record for fog in the United States was attained in 1907, when 2,734 hours of fog were observed at Seguin, Maine. This was about 30 per cent of the whole year. Maine seems to average more hours of fog than any other place in the United States.

Prevent Oats SMUTS Increase Yields with CERESAN

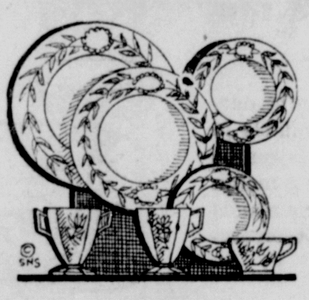

OATS smuts cause heavy yield losses. Prevent them by using Ceresan as a seed treatment. Prevents seed rotting. Improves stands. Harmless to seed. Easily and quickly applied as a dust. Yield increases of from 13.8 bushels per acre to 19.1 bushels per acre have been obtained in addition to perfect smut control. Ceresan is also effective in preventing covered smut and stripe of barley as well as many seed-borne diseases of wheat, cotton, rye, millet and sorghums. Treat now or before planting. Use three ounces per bushel of seed oats, barley and cotton; two ounces per bushel of seed wheat, rye, millet and sorghums. Five pounds, $3.00; twenty-five pounds, $12.50.

TELLS HIS STORY OF ACUTE UNEMPLOYMENT

Washington, March 21—(U.P.)—Before an audience which included 30 jobless men, unkempt and dirty, Frances Perkins, member of the industrial commission of New York state, today told the senate commerce committee a story of acute employment in the largest industrial state of the Union.

Diplomats' Status

Diplomatic agents are divided into the following four classes in the order of their precedence: (1) Ambassadors, legates and nuncios; (2) envoys and ministers; (3) ministers resident; (4) charges d'affaires.

NATURAL RELIEF FOR MOST PREVALENT DISEASE

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Eaten by Millions Daily to Prevent Constipation and Anemia

Constipation has been truly described as the curse of modern life. Its poisons cause countless ills—headaches, listlessness, indigestion—often serious disease.

Yet it can be relieved and prevented in an easy, pleasant, natural way. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, eaten daily, is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. It adds the roughage to your diet that sweeps the system clean of all waste and insures regular elimination.

This delicious ready-to-eat cereal also helps prevent and relieve anemia. Scientific research shows that it is rich in iron—nearly all of which is absorbed, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

Isn't it much wiser to relieve constipation with this healthful cereal than to take pills and drugs that only give temporary help and are often dangerous?

Be sure to add Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to any reducing diet. Doctors recommend it.

If you wish to bid goodbye forever to constipation and its companion physical troubles, just begin eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Your grocer has it. It is served everywhere—in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. With cream or milk is one popular way to eat it. When sprinkled over cereals or soups, it adds flavor, as in cooked foods. Soak it in fruit juice. Whatever the style of eating, it is equally effective. In the red-and-green package—made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

TELLS HIS STORY OF ACUTE UNEMPLOYMENT

Washington, March 21—(U.P.)—Before an audience which included 30 jobless men, unkempt and dirty, Frances Perkins, member of the industrial commission of New York state, today told the senate commerce committee a story of acute employment in the largest industrial state of the Union.

Diplomats' Status

NATURAL RELIEF FOR MOST PREVALENT DISEASE

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Eaten by Millions Daily to Prevent Constipation and Anemia

Constipation has been truly described as the curse of modern life. Its poisons cause countless ills—headaches, listlessness, indigestion—often serious disease.

Yet it can be relieved and prevented in an easy, pleasant, natural way. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, eaten daily, is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. It adds the roughage to your diet that sweeps the system clean of all waste and insures regular elimination.

This delicious ready-to-eat cereal also helps prevent and relieve anemia. Scientific research shows that it is rich in iron—nearly all of which is absorbed, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

Isn't it much wiser to relieve constipation with this healthful cereal than to take pills and drugs that only give temporary help and are often dangerous?

Be sure to add Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to any reducing diet. Doctors recommend it.

If you wish to bid goodbye forever to constipation and its companion physical troubles, just begin eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Your grocer has it. It is served everywhere—in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. With cream or milk is one popular way to eat it. When sprinkled over cereals or soups, it adds flavor, as in cooked foods. Soak it in fruit juice. Whatever the style of eating, it is equally effective. In the red-and-green package—made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

"Three R's" may lay the foundation for a solid education, but it is a proper study of "Three C's" that determines what degree of fashion a woman illustrates in her garb. These three C's, in Dame Fashion's mind, are Chic, Charm and Cash.

Grace J. Austin

Perhaps some one would be inclined to rate Cash first, but after all, there are ways to make small cash function so well that its effects may quite equal large cash. "Chic" jumped over to America from Paris-land, and even if sometimes pronounced like a one-day chick, over here, is yet becoming recognized as a definite clothes quality.

Charm, after all, probably deserves the first place. This is the quality which has always been a factor with the story book heroine, whether she wears a milkmaid's gown, or an artist's paint-spattered smock. The dean of women at a large university recently declared, "Charm is one of the main essentials to a successful career for a woman, whether her profession leads her into a home of her own, a life of social contact only, or a business venture."

Then she goes on to say, and all business and professional women can take notice, "It is estimated that a woman's charm is responsible for 90 per cent of her business contacts, though her efficiency must soon manifest itself." So in buying hat, gown, shoes—any article of wearing apparel, be sure in your mind to run over the "Three C's"—and think especially about that matter of adding to your charm.

So far as Dame Fashion can observe or prophesy, the same rule holds in the spring that was good earlier—for gowns to be from four to six inches below the knee. No French designer seems to wish to make street sweepers from his models. Knees—always a doubtfully beautiful part of the anatomy—have vanished, and no one much mourns their disappearance.

Small designs in flowered goods are in evidence—and how engaging those little boleros and Eton jackets are! They seem, somehow, to give a reason for the higher waistline. For there could no more be a long and flopping Eton jacket than there could be found a loose and flapping coat on a West Point cadet.

Dame Fashion had certainly a good broad smile when she heard that there is a possibility of a revival of the sailor hat! Back in the days so long gone when she was in boarding school, if anyone had asked the number of girls attending, and the number of sailor hats in the dormitory hall, the two numbers would have matched exactly. There have been plenty of sporadic sailor hat days since, but none like the nineties, when the sailor hat was uniform wear for simple outdoor occasions.

But the sailor hat called for a hat pin. And how sad it would be to have to go back to those detestable spikes! Perhaps this clever age will invent a pneumatic fastening, for without something of the kind the present-day highways may blossom like the rose with blown-off sailor hats from every rumble seat and open car.

DR. COOK STARTS HIS "COMEBACK"

ACCEPTS POST AS BOYS' DIRECTOR AT SUMMER CAMP, BURLINGTON, WIS.

Chicago, March 21.—(UP)—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who won transitory fame in the Arctic and paid for a misstep by spending five years in Leavenworth penitentiary, started his "comeback" today with the cheers of 900 boys ringing in his ears.

He has accepted a post as permanent physical director of the Boys' Brotherhood Republic and will direct the organization's summer camp at Burlington, Wis.

Last night the 65-year-old veteran of a stormy life straightened his shoulders and smiled when the 900 boys shouted their confidence in him as he was made a life member of their organization. Only two persons have been so honored in the past, Mrs. Marshall Field and President Roosevelt.

"We believe you haven't had a fair deal," spokesman for the boys told Cook. "You can always make the offices of the Boys' Brotherhood Republic your headquarters."

Dr. Cook indicated he plans to establish a health center at Burlington and would probably be a chemistry instructor as well.

DR. COOK STARTS HIS "COMEBACK"

ACCEPTS POST AS BOYS' DIRECTOR AT SUMMER CAMP, BURLINGTON, WIS.

Chicago, March 21.—(LP)—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who won transitory fame in the Arctic and paid for a misstep by spending five years in Leavenworth penitentiary, started his "comeback" today with the cheers of 900 boys ringing in his ears.

He has accepted a post as permanent physical director of the Boys' Brotherhood Republic and will direct the organization's summer camp at Burlington, Wis.

Last night the 65-year-old veteran of a stormy life straightened his shoulders and smiled when the 900 boys shouted their confidence in him as he was made a life member of their organization. Only two persons have been so honored in the past, Mrs. Marshall Field and President Roosevelt.

"We believe you haven't had a square deal," spokesman for the boys told Cook. "You can always make the offices of the Boys' Brotherhood Republic your headquarters."

Dr. Cook indicated he plans to establish a health center at Burlington and would probably be a chemistry instructor as well.
